Career of Brilliant Woman
Near End After Valiant
Struggle

Paris, March 26.—The last sacrament was administered to Mme. Sarah Bernhardt at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, after attending physicians had given up hope that she could live through the day. Her death was expected momentarily. She had another relapse during the early afternoon and failed to rally.

Dr. Marot told International News Service at 5 o'clock that two injections of morphine had been administered and that she was sleeping. He said there was a bare chance she might hold out until morning.

Her illness is now diagnosed as uraemic poisoning complicated by heart weakness. Physicians and nurses were constantly in attendance.

"Mme. Bernhardt's condition is very serious," said Dr. Labbe, one of the specialists in a statement to International News Service at noon. "There is very little hope at the present time. I cannot say anything more beyond that."

"Madame Bernhardt passed a restless night," her secretary told International News Service at nine o'clock. Her condition is about the same, although it is not at all satisfactory. "Only the indomitable will of the famous actress has kept the slender thread of life from snapping. After a small cup of weak broth had been fed to her, she brightened and remarked:

"It was a warm spring day and bright sunshine came flooding through the windows."

"I shall continue my work," she continued, but in a voice so pitifully weak it could hardly be heard.

From five to seven specialists have been in attendance off and on, holding frequent consultations. They are amazed at the marvellous vitality of the patient who is 73 years old.

Dr. Prevost, chief of the specialists refused to hold out any hope that Madame Bernhardt could recover sufficiently to resume her work in the films although he said she might linger for a while.

PASTOR FALLS DEAD DURING SERVICES

Martins Ferry, O., March 26.—Apoplexy, resulting from overwork is the cause assigned for the death of Dr. Robert B. McDaniel, 61, who fell dead in the First Baptist Church of which he was pastor just prior to the start of last evening's service. Mr. McDaniel had just completed an evangelistic campaign in Dayton. His widow and five children, among them a daughter who is a student at Ohio University at Athens and a son at Denison University, Granville, survive.

HARDING TO DECIDE

Washington, March 26.—Official confirmation was given at the State Department today to an exclusive International News Service dispatch on March 21, announcing that President Harding would be the final arbiter in the controversy between Secretary of State Hughes and Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, over the elevation of guns on American capital ships.

Until the president returns from Florida, officials said, the controversy aroused by the interpretation of the Washington naval treaty will remain "status quo."

MME. BERNHARDT AT DEATH'S DOOR

Mme. Bernhardt, famous French actress may not live throughout the day according to word this afternoon. All hope for her recovery has been abandoned. She is suffering with uraemic poisoning.

HARDING'S POLITICAL ADVISERS PLEASED OVER HIS CANDIDACY

Reaction to Announcement is Favorable, They Say—
Congratulatory Messages Are Received From
Party Leaders.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 26.—Political advisers of President Harding are greatly pleased by the reaction to the announcement of the Harding candidacy in 1924, it was learned here today.

Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, who made the historic announcement at Miami a week ago, has advised the president of the receipt of a "flood" of congratulatory messages from party leaders in all parts of the country. Some of the most prominent counselors in the party have wired that "the country was waiting for it," and that the announcement at this time would give a much needed clarification to the political atmosphere.

This view is also taken by members of the president's immediate party. Whatever else it has done, they said today, it has served to check if not to stop altogether much of the quiet "grooming" of various candidates that has been in progress

SHIPPING BOARD WILL NOT SELL VESSELS IS WORD

Fletcher Sees American
Owned Merchant
Marine

Washington, March 26.—No one should be deceived into believing that because the administration abandoned the shipping bill, there is not going to be an American owned and operated merchant marine.

Such is the declaration of Senator D. U. Fletcher of Florida, ranking Democratic member of the senate committee on commerce.

There are "some interests," Senator Fletcher said, determined that the ships shall be sold for a song. "They wanted the ships and the subsidy. Now they would be satisfied with the ships at a price, and await further developments." The senator continued:

"The principal contention of those who favor a ship subsidy is that American ships can not compete with foreign vessels because the latter can be operated at a lower cost. If foreigners can and do operate their ships at a lower cost, which is not admitted, then I suggest the following remedies, to become effective immediately:

"Abrogate the treaties, as provided by law, so that the United States may discriminate in the matter of customs duties on goods carried in American ships. Congress can do that, if the president will not. Bring about real co-operation between all governmental agencies at home and abroad and the operators and owners and patrons of our ships. Patronize and encourage others to patronize American freight and passenger ships. Develop and maintain adequate port facilities in the Atlantic, Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific.

"The insurance of American hulls and cargoes should be placed with American companies and associations. The cost of operating, maintaining and repairing our ships should be reduced to a minimum and not be exposed to graft or unnecessary expense and delay. Each and every American taxpayer is a stockholder in the American merchant marine, and it is his duty to patronize and assist in every possible way to make it a success.

"When economic conditions abroad again become normal there will be ample commerce to make certain the profitable employment of practically all of our ships, provided, of course, improved business and other methods are adopted, and there is co-operation all down the line from now on."

Commissioner Edward Plummer of the United States shipping board said: "The British dream that defeat of the shipping bill would mean that the United States would have to get off the seas and throw away its ships rapidly is turning into a nightmare. They now see that we are not going to do any such thing, but, on the contrary, our determination, in spite of all handicaps, to build up an adequate American merchant marine is greater than ever."

Mr. Plummer said the astute British shipping leaders, therefore, have been forced to the realization that the situation with regard to American competition has got to this point: "Either the treaties standing in the way must be amended or abrogated so that a system of discriminatory duties in favor of goods hauled in American bottoms may be put in force, or a policy of permanent government operation adopted, genuine, thorough-going government operation, sympathetically directed and designed to render the greatest possible service to the country in keeping open the channels of trade, heretofore closed to the United States when it had no ships of its own."

TO EXPLAIN TO WIFE

Philadelphia, Pa., March 26.—J. Kearsley Mitchell, the "mysterious Mr. Marshall," of the Dorothy King murder case in New York, is reported to have left this city early today for the south where he intends meeting the train upon which his wife is speeding northward from Palm Beach in order to give her a first hand account of the relations with the slain girl.

SEEK MAN IN DEATH OF GIRL

Here is the latest picture of Mrs. Frances Love Beckwith, daughter of a prominent Philadelphia family, a New York show girl, well known among Broadway's butterflies, who died of acute peritonitis, following a drinking party in which she is reported to have received injuries similar to those which caused the death of Virginia Rappe, for which "Fatty" Arbuckle was acquitted in San Francisco. A flashily attired man who had been seen in her apartment is sought by the police.

FASHIONABLE APARTMENT HOUSE ON 57TH STREET BURNS: ONE IS MISSING

Blaze Sweeps Two Upper Floors of Building Trapping
Occupants—100 Families Had Homes
There.

New York, March 26.—Four persons are known to be dead, two are dying and one other missing as the result of a fire which swept through the two upper floors of the fashionable apartment house on West Fifty-Seventh Street, early today.

This apartment house is close to that occupied by Miss Dorothy Keenan King, beautiful model, who was recently murdered and whose death has not yet been cleared up.

One of the dead was identified as Miss Bessie Fries, companion of the wife of Joseph M. Callahan, who owned the building. Another was Miss Margaret Lee, 65, and the third Mrs. Emily Lee.

Mrs. Bessie Callahan had a miraculous escape from instant death. Trapped by smoke and flames on the sixth floor, she crawled through a window and clung to the sill until her strength gave way and she dropped to the street below.

It was at first reported that she had been killed but doctors found that she was still living. She was removed to a hospital, where it was said she would probably die.

There were 100 families living in the building.

When the blaze was discovered one of the upper floors it spread with great rapidity and soon clouds of black smoke were rolling through the hallways and billowing from windows.

Terrified tenants began rushing from the building while screams of fright filled the air.

Occupants of nearby apartment houses took alarm and fled into the street.

After the firemen had confined the blaze to the two upper floors, policemen began checking up the dead and missing.

They had little hope that any of the six missing persons were alive and that the death list probably would reach nine.

There was considerable delay in identifying the third victim, who was known to be dead.

The flames spread to an adjoining building. The structure on the opposite side contains a branch Y. M. C. A. For a time it was seriously menaced.

So rapid was the progress of the fire that three alarms were turned in in quick succession and all the police reserves from nearby stations were rushed to the scene. Spectacular rescues were made by firemen and policemen.

One woman, who had taken refuge on the roof, jumped into a life net.

Flames and smoke cut off stairways and soon the windows on the upper floors were filled with heads of white faced men and shrieking women. The firemen worked desperately getting up extension ladders and swinging life nets into position.

At risk of their lives, firemen ran into the smoke filled halls and apartments, carrying out unconscious men and women.

Four ambulances were rushed to the scene and within a short time first aid had been given to more than a score of persons who suffered from inhalation of smoke or were hysterical from fright.

FIVE LIVES TAKEN BY TYPHOID SINCE FIRST OF THE YEAR

Cincinnati Suburb Worried
Over Health Condition—
Source Unknown

Cincinnati, March 26.—With the death of Mildred Louise Hemmatt, 16, of Latonia, Ky., the fifth in Cincinnati's Kentucky suburbs, ascribed to typhoid fever since January 1, alarm in Covington, Newport, Latonia, Fort Thomas, Fort Mitchell, Ludlow and Dayton, Ky., increased yesterday and health officials of the cities have united in an effort to combat the epidemic generally credited to the water supply systems of the communities.

School authorities in Covington have ordered a survey to learn whether or not pupils of the schools of the city have been afflicted by typhoid. As from two to three weeks may be required for incubation of the fever germ, the tracing of the source of the contamination may be difficult.

Thirty-one cases of typhoid have been reported in the cities involved, all of which face Cincinnati, across the Ohio river, which is the source of the water supply of the communities. Analysis of the water has failed to reveal any bacteria, health authorities assert.

ARMED BANDITS NABBED AFTER FIGHT

Philadelphia, Pa., March 26.—Two armed bandits were captured at Broad and Chestnut Streets, the very center of the city, after a desperate gun duel with Faulkner, a policeman, who discovered them as they fled from a cigar store, after looting it and leaving the clerk bound and gagged.

ABANDON HOPE FOR LENINE'S RECOVERY

Copenhagen, March 26.—Hope has been abandoned that Lenin could recover active political power said a Moscow dispatch in the Soviet press today. It is understood that at the next meeting of communist leaders the communist party will propose that either Capla Gumbel, or M. Rosefield be elected successor to Lenin in soviet government.

N. YORK PHASE VITAL Attempt to Show "Criminal Conspiracy" Responsible For Price

Washington, March 26.—The government's investigation of high sugar prices, ordered by President Harding, was speeded up today when the Department of Justice instructed U. S. District Attorney Hayward at New York, to gather evidence against alleged sugar speculators for presentation to the Federal Grand Jury.

The New York phase of the sugar probe is most vital part of the campaign of Acting Attorney General Seymour to determine if a "criminal conspiracy" is responsible for recent price increases.

Bringing their best legal talent into action, officials of the Department of Justice plan rapid accumulation of evidence and speedy exposure of the alleged manipulators now blamed for "fictitious" prices.

The government's inquiry is to be made sweeping in character in view of reports which have reached officials of a plot to force sugar up to twenty cents, if possible before summer. If it should reach that figure the American people will suffer a loss of more than $1,000,000,000 by the extortion.

Searching inquiry into the books of some of the suspected brokerage firms is under way. Orders also have been issued to ascertain the alleged connection of certain of the sugar refiners, and sugar plantation owners in Cuba. Some of those who direct the affairs of large refineries are also listed as owners of Cuban cane plantations. These individuals lost heavily in the crash of sugar prices about two years ago. At the department today, officials were not prepared to divulge names of such persons who may now be under suspicion. To do this, it was said, would defeat the government in its present effort. They will be made known later however, when the government's case is complete.

Representatives of the beet sugar industry, also are to be questioned. Department officials withheld comment upon this and other phases of the inquiry, but it was evident that the government's legal branch has determined to go into every angle of complaints laid before it and establish responsibility for the present situation.

NEW WORLD SPIRIT URGED AT OPENING OF BIG CONFERENCE

Santiago, Chili, March 26.—An invincible new world spirit of co-operation and continental solidarity, "fearing nothing," was the keynote of the welcoming address of President Alessandri of Chile at the inaugural session of the fifth international conference of American states here.

Tracing the story of the Pan-American movement in the struggle for freedom from old world domination beginning a century ago, President Alessandri lauded Pan-Americanism as an "actual dynamic force borne from unavailing geographic, historic and political causes on a vast continent separated from the remainder of the world."

President Alessandri paid special tribute to President Harding's peace policy, which, "embodying the gospel of a new democracy, is being constructed at this moment on a basis which respects the sovereignty of the nations and their absolute equality."

In the assembly hall, where the delegates from 18 American republics met to discuss their own problems, old world diplomats looked on as spectators. Mexican Minister Trejo, owing to the fact that his country is not participating in the conference, was a spectator with the others.

Prior to the opening of the meeting the heads of the 18 delegations met for consideration of the conference program. Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the United States delegation moved the selection of Montes de Oca, head of the Argentine delegation, to make the response on behalf of the visiting delegates to the welcoming address of the Chilean foreign minister, Luis Izquierdo.

FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Steubenville, O., March 26.—Trevor A. Roberts, vice president and general manager of the Industrial Service company of Pittsburgh, was found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of Elmer Cost, shot during labor trouble at Yorkville, O., in February, 1922, by a jury in common pleas court.

EX-CONSUL GIVES ADDRESS AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH SUNDAY

Showing a clear insight into the world conditions of today as an outgrowth of the World War, Dr. A. R. Fulkerson, ex-consul to Japan, addressed a large audience at the morning services of the First M. E. Church Sunday, on "The Present World Situation."

The reception which Dr. Fulkerson has met in other Ohio cities, and over the country was repeated at the meeting, the large audience enthusiastically receiving his address. He displayed an almost inexhaustible fund of information, and gave first-hand knowledge of the vital facts about conditions over the world.

The remainder of the program of the morning service, was followed in commemoration of Palm Sunday, and included a solo by Miss Leona Keller a duet by Frank Kelter and Miss Cora Williams, and an anthem by the choir, accompanied by Mrs. C. H. Denner organist.

COACH SHEETS POINTING HOME LADS FOR BASEBALL
ROBINHOODS LOSE TWO GAMES SAME DAY

Home Team Practicing
Weather permitting the O. S. and S. O. Home baseball squad will have its first practice of the season Monday.

Coach Sheets has been holding light workouts in the armory hall and by so doing the Home lads are getting limbered up and under the direction of the Coach have learned a few points of the national pastime.

Coach O. T. Sheets is from Columbus and is store keeper at the Home. He has coached the Home nine for the past three seasons and has had a successful team each year. Last year's team was a corker and Sheet's lads played 10 games winning nine and dropping one. The defeat was to the crack Springfield High team but the Clark County gang came loaded for the locals and did not have very many high school athletes on roster most of them being semi-pro players.

With eight of last year's regulars back on the job, and a promising bunch of rookies in the field, there was no doubt be keen competition for berths on the varsity nine.

The Home mentor has a nice string of pitchers lined up for the job. "Brownie" Torrence and Kauffman who did the twirling last year are back on the job and are going strong, or rather in the box, while "Pete" Nolan and Woods have also appeared and are showing fine form. Much is expected of Torrence and Kauffman as both lads rung up splendid records last season. Both of these boys have all kinds of benders and plenty of stuff on them.

On the receiving end Brewster seems to be the best bet as he was the backstop on last year's nine. Waterman is out for first, while Sherman and Hemphill are other likely candidates for the initial sack. Turney and Lee have been having it out for the keystone position. H. Lutz and Kenner, recruits, are arguing for the short stop position, while there are three lads out for the hot corner. Schultz, Caldwell and McDonald fighting for the position. L. Nolan, who is out for the twirling job played the pick up position last year and may be shifted this season. Lewis and F. Lutz who played in the gardens last season are back once more for the outfield position. Both are good on nabbing flies. Aschcraft, Phillips and Gaines are also out for the field job.

Coach and Manager Sheets is booking a heavy schedule for the Home nine and there will no doubt be some interesting conflicts staged. There will probably be a few out of town games also on the schedule as there were last season. The Home will open its season on or about

The central Robinhoods lost two games Saturday, losing to the Orient Hill Reds, 18 to 10 and to the Eagles, second team 30 to 5. The Robinhoods lined up in the first game as follows: Adair, c; Price, p; Ball, ss; Bankard, lb; Spahr, 2b and C. Adair, 3b while the Orient Hill team had a full team with Brown, c; Michael, p; Hurley, ss; LaMar, lb; Bennington, 2b; Bostwick, 3b; Hook, 1b; Lighthiser, rf; R. Lighthiser, cf. In the second game the Robinhoods lined up as follows: Adair, c; Price, p; J. Hornick, ss; Ball, lb; C. Adair, 2b; L. Hornick, 3b; Eagles—McCallister, c; Zell, p; West, ss; Shaffer, lb; M. Davidson, 2b; Clinton Adair, 3b; and Crawford, 1b.

GAMES ARE RE-SCHEDULED

Three basketball games to have been played at McKinley School last week and postponed, have been re-booked for Tuesday evening on McKinley floor according to Coach A. M. Black. The three game card will probably be one of the last court entertainments of the season at McKinley.

The main mill of the evening will see the first team of the eighth grade hooking up with the Boy Scout quintet. The semiprelim will be staged between the Herr Bros., five and the first team of the seventh grade while the second team of the seventh grade will play McKinley sixth grade in the eye-opener. The first contest will start at 6:30 o'clock.

HEIRESS A FACTORY WORKER.

Springfield, O., March 26.—Her daddy is a millionaire, but that makes no difference to Miss Elizabeth Dennison, daughter of Henry S. Dennison of Farmington, Mass. She is a co-operative student at Antioch college and spends every alternative five-week period in a Dayton factory as an armature winder. HEAR REPORTS OF MILK STATIONS AT MEETING SATURDAY

Encouraging reports from four townships of the county, operating co-operative milk stations, under the auspices of the Greene County Farm Bureau, were heard at annual meetings of the members of the organizations, held Friday and Saturday.

The first meeting held was that of the Cedarville Township Dairy organization, held at Cedarville, Friday evening. The manager's report was given by N. P. Ewbank, who reported that the station started May 1, 1922, and during the ten months of operation ending March 1, has handled 28,423 pounds of butter fat, which sold for a total of $17,433.61, with a gross profit of $1,669.99. The expense for operating the state during the ten months was $1,409.61.

The station has grown rapidly, the membership increasing from 43 on May 1, 1922, to 78 on March 1, one of the best gross gains experienced by any of the county cream stations.

The annual election of officers of the dairy organization resulted in the appointment of J. E. Kyle, president; Burton McElwain, vice president; Fred Townsley, secretary; Cash Gordon, treasurer, and E. E. Finney and A. J. Pitstick, advisory councilmen.

The meeting of the members of the Xenia Township cream station was held, Saturday night, H. W. Eavey, treasurer, reporting that since June 1, when the station started operations, that 55,551 pounds of butter fat, had been handled by the station. The business, according to Mr. Eavey's report, has increased steadily, and the membership has grown from 73 on June 1, 1922 to 112, at present.

The officers of the organization, elected were, B. U. Bell, president; Walter Nash, vice president; Elmer Hetzel, secretary, and H. W. Eavey, treasurer, with Ralph Spahr and J. C. Short, advisory councilmen. Both the Cedarville and Xenia Township stations have paid a retail of not less than two cents per pound for butter fat delivered by the members, at the end of each month.

Waldo Elliot was elected president, of the Sugarcreek Township dairy organization, at the meeting held Saturday afternoon. Other officers to serve during the coming year with Mr. Elliot, are Weller Haines, vice president; Henry B. Weller, secretary, Carl Peterson, treasurer, and K. J. Sunderland, advisory councilman.

The members of the Spring Valley Township organization, elected Joseph Smith, president; George Queary, vice president, and Edward C. Hartsook, secretary and treasurer, and B. L. Adams, advisory councilman, at the meeting held Saturday night at Spring Valley. Sugarcreek and Spring Valley Townships, co-operate on the sale of cream at the Spring Valley Farmers Cream Station, and since June 7, 1922, when the station opened, have handled 23,089 pounds of butter fat, which sold for $11,048.15, at a gross profit of $1,302.17. The expenses of the station have been $17,078.17, with a net gain of $524 even.

Three members were elected on the Board of Directors of the Spring Valley Farmer's Exchange, at the meeting held Saturday night at Spring Valley. C. H. McKay, A. E. Beam and Charles Oglesbee, the officers whose terms had expired, were re-elected to the offices.

FLORIDA TO FIGHT BIG GAIN IS MADE FREE STOCK RANGE BY MRS. J. SALTER IN TAKING TANLAC

Tampa, Fla., March 26.—One of the biggest fights likely to come up at the next meeting of the State Legislature, in April, is one which citrus fruit growers, farmers and many others interested will make to have the free range abolished.

At present Florida cattle in most instances, are allowed to roam the woods, getting their sustenance wherever possible. Frequently they find their way into the yards and farms where valuable crops are grown and do a vast amount of damage.

Those opposed to the free range contend that its abolishment would not only help the entire state but that it would also help the cattle industry, inasmuch as it would tend to develop modern methods on the part of cattle men. The latter have always fought efforts to restrict the open range, and are prepared to fight any renewal of such efforts.

PLAN COMMUNITY CHURCH

A plan for a Community Church is to be presented by the Rev. Mr. Foltz, of Bowersville, at the community meeting to be held at the Caesars Creek Township High School, Tuesday evening, March 24.

"Since taking the Tanlac treatment, my digestion is amazing, my appetite is the envy of the family, and I have actually gained forty six pounds," was the remarkable statement made the other day by Mrs. James Salyer, 3430 S. Third St., Ironton, Ohio.

"I was in wretched health for over three years. I had no appetite and even the little I did eat soured, gas bloated me terribly, and my heart fluttered and palpitated so that I was afraid I had heart trouble. I was weak and listless, felt unfit for any task, and could get no restful sleep."

"But now, thanks to Tanlac, I could not wish for better health. When I got rid of stomach trouble I also got rid of what I had thought was heart trouble, for since my indigestion stopped I have had no more of those dreadful spells of palpitation. My daughter and my brother also have been greatly benefited by Tanlac, and it has been the favorite medicine in our family for several years. I cannot praise it too highly."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold. adv

GIVEN SURPRISE ON BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

Harold Penewit, was delightfully surprised at his home on the Lantz road, Friday evening, when a large company of friends and relatives arrived to remind him of his eighteenth birthday. DAUGHTER OF PRESIDENT OF DENNISON FIRM WORKS IN FACTORY AS PART OF ANTIOCH SYSTEM

Caloused hands indicative of manual labor or even the roughness that might be attained from washing dishes, would be the means of a broken-heart for the average flapper.

But not so with Miss Elizabeth Dennison, daughter of Henry S. Dennison, president of the Dennison Manufacturing Company of Framingham, Mass., who is a student at Antioch College, Yellow Springs.

For Miss Dennison has thoroughly absorbed the spirit of the co-operative type of education offered at the school of which her father is a trustee, and putting the methods to practical pursuit is supplementing her education as a factory personnel expert, by actually working in a factory.

During the five-weeks' period in which Miss Dennison is supposed to put her theory into practice, she is winding armatures in a Dayton factory. And though her hands are caloused, she lets that worry her but slightly. "This is what the wire did," she says, holding up her hands. "They were pretty sore at first but they got hard after a week."

And Miss Dennison derives keen pleasure from the novelty of making her own way. "It gives me a wonderful feeling of independence, because I know that if I had to I could easily support myself." She is on piece work and winds 11-stators a day.

And furthermore, Miss Dennison gets along fine with the other girl employees. "Oh! the girls!" she exclaims, "they're simply wonderful! I never knew girls before who acted so real. They just don't kid themselves into thinking they're something they aren't. They're themselves, and they don't care who knows it. We get along very well because I work hard, and I don't get peevish, and besides I slag for them and one day at noon I gave them a vaudeville show. Yes, I sang a few jingles and danced and we all seemed to have a fine time."

Miss Dennison plans to combine what she has learned with the Dennison plan of factory democracy for the mutual benefit of capital and labor.

SOPHS WIN HARE AND HOUND CHASE AT ANTIOCH COLLEGE

Representatives of the sophomore class of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, were winners over the freshmen team in a hare and hound chase held in the vicinity of Yellow Springs Saturday afternoon.

After a run three miles and one-half long the four members of the sophomore team, under the direction of John Christy, returned to the campus and the 27 freshmen continued to struggle in for the next two hours. The yearlings claimed the high wind which blew the paper off the trail was responsible or the defeat of their runners.

Coach Earl E. Prugh has announced the college will purchase a plaque on which the name of the winning class will be engraved if the students signify their desire to make the affair a yearly event.

URGES CLEAN UP THIS SPRING FOR OHIO MUNICIPALITIES

A spring cleanup period for all municipalities in Ohio during the month of April as a means of fire prevention is being urged in a circular sent out by State Fire Marshal Louis F. Miller.

Waste paper, oil rags or rubbish in attics, closets, cellars or out of the way places is food on which fires feed, the circular declares and a thorough clean up of all such places would prevent the fires so caused.

The State Fire Marshal is urging a permanent Fire Prevention Organization, which would remove the element of uncertainty in these annual clean up affairs by directing the cleaning up of the community annually and seeing that it is kept clean, by presenting fire prevention publicity in every manner and at every opportunity, encourage the prosecution of arsonists, obtain regular inspections of property, aid to fire department to obtain necessary equipment and to carry the gospel of fire prevention to all classes of citizenship.

While organized clean-up campaigns have been held in Xenia in former years, no movement of that nature has been broached this year, in spite of the fact that there was no clean-up last year. Physicians here have always taken a lively interest in the clean-up campaign not because it eliminates fire hazards but because it also eradicates germ breeders and provides more sanitary living conditions and helps defeat the spread of disease. The question of sanitation was partially blamed for last summer's typhoid fever epidemic.

Whether a unified cleanup campaign here is attempted or not both fire and health officials are urging that private disposal of such conditions by citizens this spring.

SPORT SUITS ALWAYS GOOD FORM

Country club life has become an important part of the American social system. Universal use of the automobile makes it possible for almost every man to play golf, get out to his club frequently or at least take part in more democratic outings which are open to everyone.

All this has resulted in the development of appropriate clothes in America, just as in England where certain elements of the population have long enjoyed leisure to play.

The American man, however, has adapted the sport suit to business life, too. You see the sport suit in offices almost as frequently as at the country clubs.

Above, at the left, is shown a typical young men's sport suit for the spring and summer season. They make up particularly well in the lively light patterns in checks and plaids and all the shades of gray and brown.

At the right is shown a young men's 5-button sack suit, conservative in design. You'll note the wide straight trousers which exemplify the 1923 style tendency.

MORMON CHURCH OF UTAH SEEKS TO BUY BIG TRACT IN OHIO

Purchase of 4000 acres of land of the Houston Farms Company, seven miles north of London, is being contemplated by the Mormon Church of Utah, it is announced.

Although a meeting of high Mormon Church officials with Richard F. Woodrow, of Toledo, president of the farms company, which is now in the hands of a receiver, was held in Marion recently, nothing of what was accomplished has been disclosed.

Purchase of the land by the Mormons for the establishment of a large colony in Ohio was first planned about a year ago, it is said. The deal was never consummated. The Houston lands are known as among the best improved in the state. There are 20 farms, each of which is fenced and tiled and the buildings are good. They center about the mansion once occupied by Foster B. Houston one-time owner, who is now dead.

The lands were valued at $1,000,000 some time ago, but their value is now believed to have decreased.

HOW TO TELL WHETHER A WITNESS IS LYING.

To Ohio has come the honor of having the first woman to sit on a supreme court bench, Miss Florence E. Allen. Previously she had been Judge of the Court of Common Pleas at Cleveland, but in 1922 was elected to the Supreme Bench, as an independent candidate against men of the regular political parties. The sketch of her life shows heroism worthy of anybody in her determination to succeed, handicapped by the fact of being a woman. While on the Common Pleas bench she tried 600 cases and had only four of these reversed, which any ex-judge will say is a record worthy to be proud of.

We have been quite interested in her diagnosis of how to tell whether a witness is lying or not, as follows:

"Witnesses who know they are not telling the truth," says Judge Allen, "are inwardly uneasy, and there is always some outward sign of this. They shift their feet, their hands, their whole bodies."

"As a rule, they are much more eager to get through the ordeal than the honest witness is. You can sense their anxiety to get off the stand as quickly as possible. An honest witness often seems to enjoy the experience of testifying. He is rather sorry when it's over and he has to step out of the limelight. But the dishonest one is, as it were, poised for flight all the time."

"And the eyes are always telltale. I can't say, of course, whether a witness is wriggling his toes or not, but you can generally see in his eyes that his thoughts are wriggling—if they are. The man may have determined in advance that he will look his interlocutor straight in the eye, knowing that this is considered the sign of truth. But there is a sort of flicker within the eyes that betrays him."

"If he were allowed to tell only the story he has prepared in advance, he might get away with it. But under questioning by the opposing lawyer, he becomes confused. He is made to supply details which he hadn't thought of when he concocted his story. It is sometimes rather pitiful to watch him then. You can fairly see his brain working feverishly, calculating, trying to remember his story and to figure out just where an unexpected question will lead him."

But Judge Allen has unshaken faith in obedience to law. She says: "Do you realize that the courts mean more to your safety and happiness than anything else in our Government? You can pass a million laws. But what are they worth unless they are administered honestly and justly? If your courts are corrupt or careless, your laws are dead letters. Where will you go for justice, if you cannot get it in your courts? If crime is not punished by the courts, what becomes of your safety?"

"I tell you that the courts mean more to you—to your home, your business, your everyday life—than any other branch of the Government!"

THE RISE OF BRITISH LABOR.

A vote in the House of Commons, in which the British Government maintained its ascendancy by the narrow majority of forty-eight, following as it does swiftly upon the loss of three parliamentary seats by the party in power, arouses some expectation of the early fall of the Bonar Law Government. The vote technically involved support of the civil service during the coming year. Actually it hinged upon approval or disapproval of the Cabinet's attitude of benevolent neutrality in the continental situation. The same eccentricities of procedure, which enable a United States Senator to discuss the propriety of opening the tomb of a bygone Egyptian King while nominally speaking on a motion concerning the ship subsidy, seems to find place in the House of Commons. The question being the support of the civil service, the debate turned wholly on the question as to whether Great Britain should intervene in behalf of Germany, or leave France to do her will.

The Labor Party, now holding undisputed place as the Opposition, is naturally greatly encouraged by this and other recent political phenomena. In this vote it had the support of at least fifty Tory members dissatisfied with the foreign policy of the Government. As the Labor Party's policy is distinctly in favor of such intervention as will end the present situation in the Ruhr, with at least the hope of reviving the trade of Great Britain with Germany, the vote must be regarded as distinctly in approval of that policy. British opinion indeed, as reflected in the press and in politics, seems to be more strongly anti-French than that of the United States. To what extent this is due to economic pressure can only be roughly estimated. The unemployment question is all-important in Great Britain, and naturally the Labor Party holds itself responsible for legislation which may correct that situation. The lack of German trade is reflected in the closing of factories and the multiplication of the number of the unemployed. Hence the attitude of Labor in British politics.

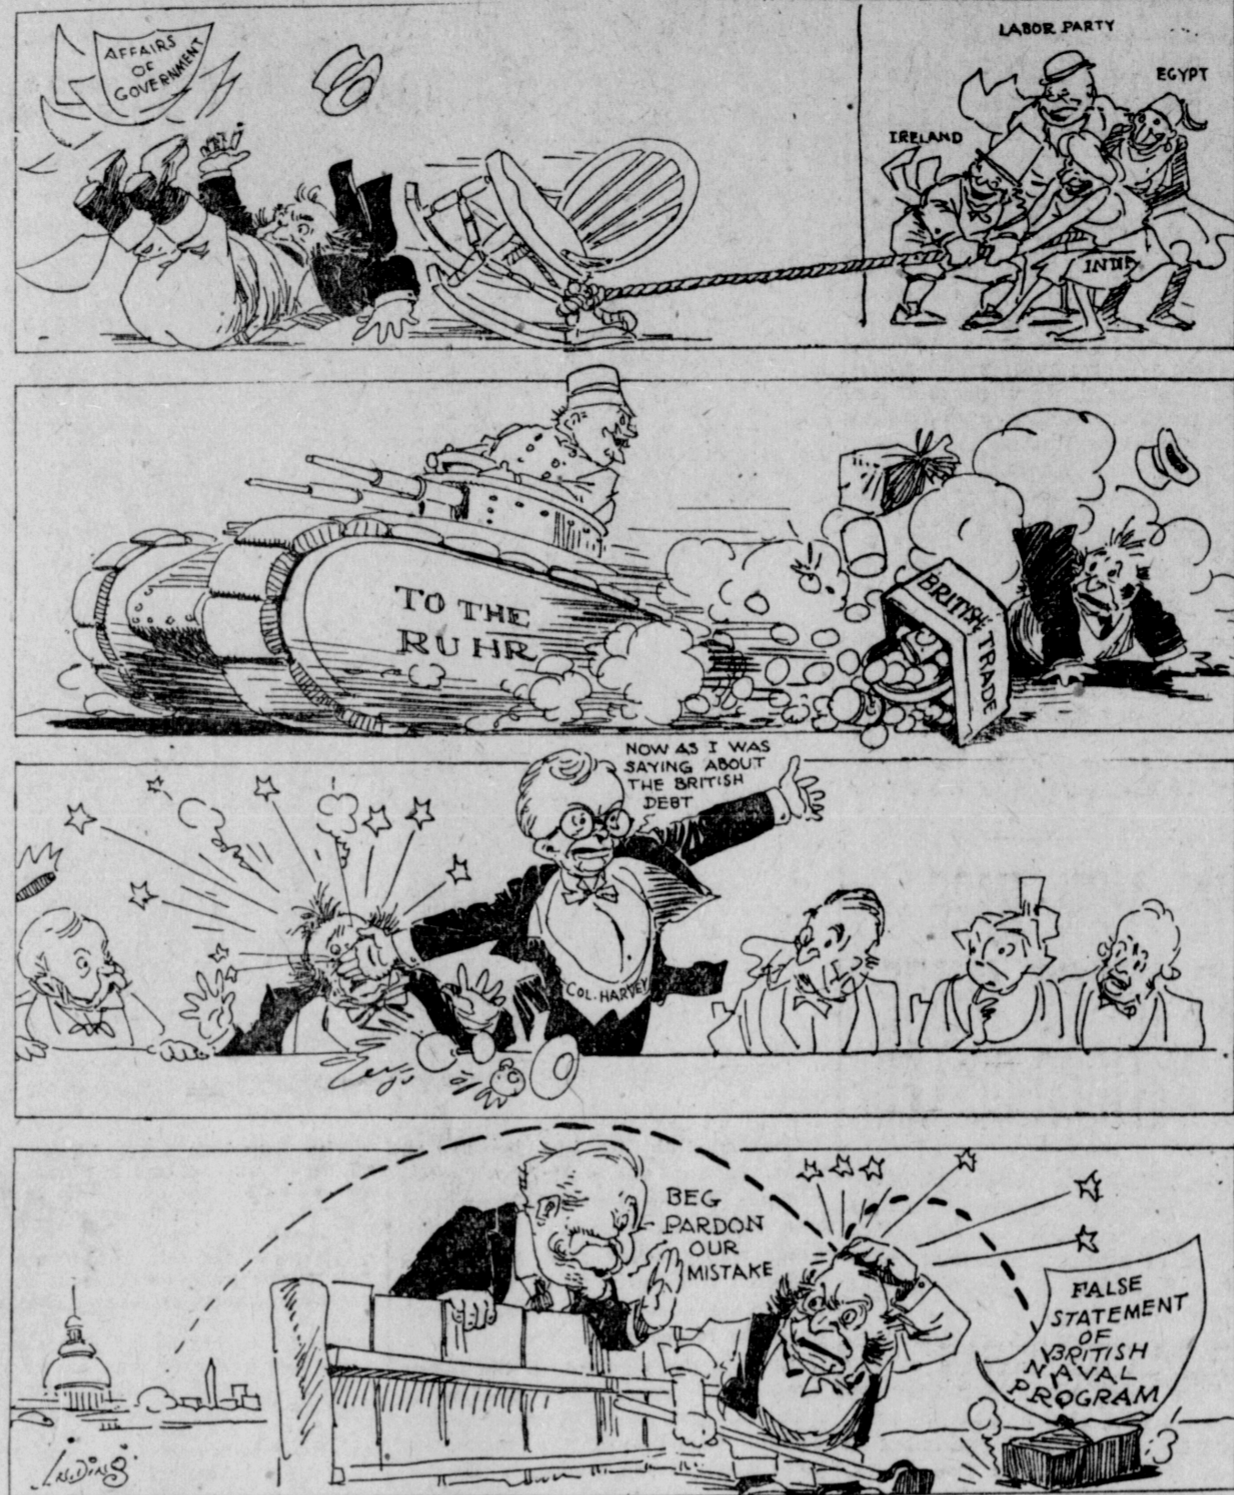

In the last general election 4,000,000 English voters voted the Labor ticket. That party now has about 150 members in the House of Commons. It is the second strongest party in Great Britain. One of these days Labor may govern England. Its leaders are ready, any time they may be called, to form a Government.

THE WORLD'S HOPE IN YOUTH.

Forty-one foreign nations—from Brazil to Siam—are represented in the student body of Harvard University. There are approximately 8000 foreign students from over 100 nationalities in the institutions of higher learning of the United States. In England's ten universities there are 3000 foreign students, and Oxford boasts a miniature League of Nations in which thirty-two nations are represented by student-citizens of those nations. In Prague—in heterogeneous mixture impossible to describe—are 30,000 students of twelve nationalities, including representatives of every political and racial problem of Central Europe.

The intellectual renaissance in China is a youth movement, and the chief opposition to China's bandit dictatorship is a youth opposition. Democracy is making headway in Japan largely through the ideals of Japan's university students. Latin-America abounds in student movements—many of them closely allied with Labor, and all of them working toward a new day of greater liberalism. It is in the Jugendbewegung (Youth Movement) of Germany that one finds hope for the development of a genuine belief in internationalism in Germany. And youth activity in these countries has gone far beyond the stage of agitation into that of definite achievement.

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

A cake walk attracted about 500 people to the rink last night many of them being from Springfield. There was some delay in getting entries, owing to the fact that cake is becoming so common that contestants for the "sweet bread" are becoming fewer and fewer as the years go by but the admirers of the "ole Virginny" dance seem to be on the increase.

The residents of Fairfield claim that thirteen is no longer an unlucky number in that their town went dry yesterday by just thirteen votes. The local option fight has been steadily waged in Greene County, Osborn and Yellow Springs being the only municipalities that as yet have not voted out the season.

The mayor, who is to be elected Monday week will come into a position much more grave, responsible and dignified than that position has ever been before.

HARMFUL DANDRUFF

Does your scalp show even a little dandruff? If so, you should begin to treat it instantly, for even a little dandruff is a menace to the health and beauty of the hair.

There are so many reasons for dandruff that it is almost impossible to discover the cause in any one particular case.

You may have been washing the hair too much, you may not have washed it enough, you may be eating too much starch, a common but little known cause of this trouble. You may have been using too strong a soap, or you may not rinse the soap sufficiently from the scalp. You may have used the hair brush or comb of somebody who has dandruff and so have caught the germ (men's barber shops are great distributing centers) or you may have been wearing heavy, heating hats too many hours a day. Here you have all the most ordinary causes. Now for the cure.

The best way to fight dandruff is to use oil in great quantities upon the scalp. If the trouble is in its early stages when it makes the hair greasy you may not like this advice. You will probably wash the scalp more frequently than the usual in a vain attempt to wash off this ever-increasing amount of oil, but as you cannot do this you had better resign yourself at once to the fact that you must go about for a while with an unusually oily head of hair in order to boast a soft and fluffy one in the future.

If you can buy crude oil, which is thick and dark and use this. If you can't, use olive oil. In any case heat the oil as hot as your scalp can take it, for its heat will open the pores so that more of it will be absorbed. Use the oil generously and rub it in with the greatest thoroughness, using an electric vibrator if you have one, and if you haven't using both hands vigorously. Do not wash out for 12 hours.

Distracted—I will be glad to mail you my formula for a blackhead powder upon the receipt of a stamped self addressed envelope.

Constant Reader—Directions for using the Pilocarpine Tonic are given along with the formula.

You use it as you would any other hair tonic. Shake it well and then moisten the tips of the fingers with the tonic and massage it into the scalp.

It will not take the curl out of your hair as it is not an oily mixture, but it is advisable not to waste the tonic by unnecessarily dampening the hair, as all tonics are meant for the scalp or the roots of the hair and not for the hair itself.

The easy way to accomplished this is to part the hair in many strands so as to get at the scalp without wasting the tonic.

If you are a constipation victim you need Bran that is ALL BRAN

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is so delicious and inviting that thousands of families use it constantly to make enticing bakery batches, such as bran muffins, pancakes, raisin bread, etc.; they eat it as a cereal, and many sprinkle it on their favorite cereal, its nut-like flavor having a fine appeal.

Many more thousands of people eat Kellogg's Bran every day of their lives because it has permanently relieved them of constipation and the dangers of dreaded diseases that constipation leads to. If you are suffering with constipation you need ALL BRAN—Kellogg's Bran—with its permanent corrective qualities. Foods that are part bran can never give the desired relief because they do not contain sufficient of the elements that Kellogg's Bran naturally contains.

When you know that constipation heads directly to Bright's disease and other ailments, there is no time to be lost in experimenting. Kellogg's Bran, delicious in its patented cooked and krumbled form, becomes an immediate necessity. If it is eaten regularly (two tablespoons daily; in chronic cases with each meal)—it will relieve constipation permanently! Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran. It will free you from proprietary pills and cathartics which are as system-racking and almost as dangerous to health as constipation itself!

Serve Kellogg's Bran regularly. Watch the health of your entire family improve. It is wonderful for children. Kellogg recipes are printed on each package. All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

All questions asked by our readers will be answered in this column. Medical and legal subjects are barred. Address all queries to "Information," this paper.

Motorist—Yes, indeed, there is a trick to running an automobile about 100 miles on a gallon of gasoline. The test, or supposed test, is usually made on straight-away roads, and before a strong wind. The car is carefully driven at 20 or 25 miles an hour, then with gears in neutral and the engine stopped, it is permitted to coast until traveling at a slow rate of speed.

Housewife.—The results of the experiment you ask about for determining of what sort of glass is best for the preserving of fresh and healthful milk are these: Red glass bottles preserve milk best in hot weather. Plain glass turns milk sour, and brown or black bottles breed germs by keeping the milk at high temperature.

Wa-Wa—It is estimated that an adult inhales one pint of air with each respiration.

Fishman—Whoever your friend is, tell him that little thought would have kept him from making that bet with you. A whale's skin is of course much thicker than that of an elephant the latter rarely ever exceeding a few inches, while the former is often two feet in thickness.

Z. E. M.—The nutmeg, contrary to your guess, is the kernel of the fruit of a tropical tree.

Harold B. G.—The growth of the finger nails of an average human may be computed from the following: A man of seventy has renewed his finger nails 186 times and has grown 7 feet 9 inches of nail of each finger.

Stan.—Yes, Germany takes a census every five years, while Britain, like us, has one every ten years.

DOUBT

John Kelman, in his wonderfully interesting book, "The Faith of Robert Louis Stevenson," commenting on Stevenson's essay "Lay Morals," says that "the deadliest doubt of all is the doubt of one's own value."

I believe there is nothing so destructive as doubt.

The Edith Randolph Prayer Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Bell Tibbs, Tuesday afternoon from 2 until 3 p. m.

Mrs. Mary E. Moxley, wife of Moses A. Moxley, died Monday morning at about 1:45. She had been in failing health for the past six years. She was stricken three weeks ago with apoplexy. She was a member of Zion Baptist Church. She was united in marriage to Mr. Moxley 36 years ago. She had been a resident of this place for 38 years. Mrs. Amy Moxley of Middletown, who has been the guest of her uncle, Mr. Moses Moxley returned home Monday morning.

It is the same in its power to tear down.

If you cannot believe, you can at least think, you can give credit, you can be tolerant, in all your relations where others are concerned.

And when it comes to yourself, you can say: "No one knows my value better than I—no one is able to bring that value out as well as I—therefore so far as I am concerned, I shall not doubt, I shall believe!"

Doubt makes a man stand still—and hesitate.

Belief makes him attempt, makes him achieve, makes him successfully happy.

It is true that belief brings about a large number of mistakes. And many fail—temporarily, at least. But doubt keeps a man standing in his own path with no progress made.

They say that "nothing succeeds like success."

But that sounds too much like putting the cart before the horse. I like this better—nothing succeeds like believing that you are going to succeed, even before you have started!

Tell a man he hasn't got it in him to win and what reaction do you get? He throws doubt out of the window—while you are not looking—and starts right in defending the belief that he knows and feels is within him.

Build your way upward through beliefs.

Place each belief against the other, as a bricklayer would his bricks, mortaring each with constant effort, and before you are aware, you will have a completed structure, worthy of all that you have put into it.

No one ever built anything through doubt.

MACHINES COLLIDE ON PIKE SUNDAY— TWO ARE INJURED

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barker, of Dayton, R. R. 5, were injured and two machines were damaged when a Mitchell touring car driven by Henry Neller, 35 Hawthorne street, Dayton, crashed into the Ford coupe occupied by Barker and his wife on the Dayton and Xenia pike, between Zimmerman and Trebeins, about three o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Barker suffered a sprained leg and his wife was cut by flying glass. Neller was unhurt. Barker was driving toward Xenia and Neller was traveling in the opposite direction when the big car is said to have sideswiped the coupe, knocking the smaller car down the road turning it around and causing it to turn turtle. The big car then ran across a ditch through a fence and into a woods.

Drivers of the two cars could give no explanation of the accident, but witnesses say the left front tire on the Mitchell machine blew out, throwing the big car in to the Ford when they attempted to pass. Both machines were badly damaged, the Ford being a new car.

Sheriff Morris Sharp investigated the accident.

Styles BY LENORE

It is something for which to be grateful that fashion has brought back the lingerie touches to dresses, especially to those of cloth.

Many women who have been wearing the severe line of the Jenny neck in black directly against their skin, thus bringing out any sallowness, should never have permitted themselves, fashion or no fashion, to dispense with the flattering aid of white or cream to soften the effect.

The model in the sketch—which with inch-wide folds of self-material, has an original way of breaking up its surfaces without destroying the slimness of the contour—shows one of the pleasing, youthful ways in which to use a bit of lingerie.

Cream embroidered batiste, or eyelet embroidery may be used. The edges are bound with cloth. This will be at its best in dark blue or tan rep.

Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs

By Mrs. George Elliott McCormick.

Already Ohio federated club women are beginning to plan their delegate representation at the biennial council meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Atlanta, Ga., May 7 to 11 inclusive. Each club is entitled to one delegate for the first 100 members or less and one additional delegate for every additional 100 members. A club president is not a delegate unless elected to be by her club.

Visiting club women will be cordially welcomed at the biennial meeting, which, it is expected, will afford an opportunity for hearing the greatest women speakers in the world. Social features will be characteristic of southern hospitality. Hotel rates have not been raised, according to Mrs. Cornelius S. Selover, No. 1958 East 71st Street, Cleveland, who is Ohio director for the General Federation as well as the president of the state federation. These rates will range from $2.50 to $5 a day. The Ansley hotel is to be headquarters. Other hotels include the Piedmont, Wincoff, Cecil, Kimball, Georgian Terrace and Imperial. Reservations are to be made with the hotels direct. Railroad fares will be one and a half rates on the certificate plan, full fare going when a certificate must be secured and signed in Atlanta. Tickets are to be on sale May 3 and will be good until May 15. Mrs. A. F. Westgate, No. 1875 Belmont road, East Cleveland, is Ohio chairman of transportation, and more detailed information can be obtained from her.

Every club woman in the Central district will find some foreign born woman to befriend in some way, if the request of Miss Belle Larimore, of Outville, is heeded. She is a member of the state federation's committee on Americanization for the Central district.

"The children of the foreigners are learning our language and customs in our schools, the men, also, in their work, but the woman in the home is being left behind," Miss Larimore asserts. "There she is just as foreign as ever she was for in the home the native tongue is spoken."

Therefore, Miss Larimore would have every Central district club woman to become a sort of a "big sister" to her.

In the division of literature of the state federation, Mrs. Robert C. Morris, No. 2648 Kirkwood Lane, Toledo, offers a five year course for clubs. It follows: "Classic and Contemporary Short Story," "The Development of the Novel," "Modern Drama," "Contemporary Poetry and Biography and Essay." Leaflets will be supplied by Mrs. Morris upon request.

The chairman of the division of literature wants all clubs to observe the 350th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare, April 23. Programs for this occasion and an outline of a year's study of Shakespeare will be sent by Mrs. Morris to any one desirous of them.

A list of suggestions for summer reading will be ready for distribution at the state convention at Steubenville in May by the state division of literature, Mrs. Morris announces.

"Aunt Hannah's Quilting Party," a show presented by the Gailion Federation recently, netted $363 for placing needed street signs in Gailion. Club women took part in the play, which was pronounced a splendid success. Gailion has 180 members in its six federated clubs. At the federation meeting this month, it was announced that $50 of the $224 cleared in its Christmas seal sale had been expended in supplying milk to undernourished children in the public schools.

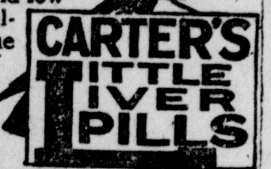

ECONOMIC CRISIS AGGRAVATED.

serim, March 26.—The past week saw an aggravation of the economic crisis. Industry has been forced, owing to the stringency of bank credit, to procure money by issuing new shares. In February 17 billion marks of new shares were issued as against 1½ billions in February, 1922. March will probably be double this amount. The demand for manufactured articles is dull. There was a sharp fall in prices for many raw materials. There was a further falling off of exports.

FORMER XENIAN IS AUTHOR OF MOVIE HERE SATURDAY

Unusual local interest was attached to the motion picture "The Man Unconquerable," which appeared at the Bijou Theater Saturday matinee and night due to the fact that the screen story was written by Hamilton Earl Smith, former Xenian.

Hamilton Earl Smith, known most generally as Earl Smith during his residence in Xenia, is head of the Syracuse Moving Picture Company of New York City, and author of the scenario screened with Jack Holt in the leading role.

Mr. Smith is a son of Mrs. Lorena Smith, sister of Miss Jean B. Elwell of this city, and for many years he made his home with his mother in the home of his grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Elwell of this city.

Mr. Smith obtained his early education in the Xenia schools leaving Xenia several years ago after completing his public school studies. He is remembered by many Xenians, who are interested in the film version of the scenario written by him.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2. and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

A Worth-while Reputation

THE head of one of this country's great manufacturing institutions says:

The man who builds and the man who buys are both beneficiaries of reputation. To the one it is a continuous spur and incentive—to the other, the strongest of all guarantees that what he buys is worthy."

Patronize the manufacturer or merchant who has a reputation for honesty and fair dealing. Such motives must actuate the consistent advertiser. The man who invests real money in building a reputation for himself and his merchandise cannot afford to risk any of it by taking unfair advantage of his customers. He must retain the good-will of the buying public. Without this, his business cannot succeed.

Every time he advertises he puts his reputation in your hands. His products or the wares he has for sale must make good. His service must be as advertised.

That is why it pays to read advertisements, to deal with advertisers and to buy advertised goods.

ENTIRE CITY IS MENACED BY FIRE

London, March 26.—Russell, Ky., a thriving railroad town just opposite Ironton, Ohio had a $160,000 fire at three o'clock this morning. For a short while, destruction of the entire town was threatened. An entire city block was completely burned and adjacent property badly damaged.

There is no city water and the town was saved from complete destruction when the C. and O. Railroad Company cut its supply of water in the city mains.

Insurance will cover fifty percent of the loss.

SLAYER KNOWN TO POLICE IN MODEL MURDER

Arrest Near in Dorothy King Case It Is Believed.

New York, March 26.—The man who murdered Dorothy King, the Broadway butterfly, more than a week ago, is known to the New York police. He is said to be in a New York town up the Hudson river and detectives have been sent to get him. Assistant District Attorney Pecora said that an arrest is near.

The arrest will be made, it is said, on substantiation of a plot to blackmail John K. Mitchell, a Philadelphia millionaire, who lavished the girl with jewels and paid her $1,000 a visit.

Mitchell, who was known until Saturday as the mysterious "John Marshall," has gone to Philadelphia to await the ordeal of facing his wife and father-in-law, E. T. Stotesbury, a partner of J. Pierpont Morgan. Mrs. Mitchell and her father are hurrying north from Palm Beach and will reach home Wednesday. As Mitchell left New York he looked as though he had aged 10 years in the last two days.

Authorities said they are convinced that Mitchell was marked for blackmail. A hundred thousand dollars was to have been demanded of him. They say the plot had its beginning when Miss King confided to a man that she had learned Mitchell's identity. Three men, one of them an attorney, were involved in the plot and they induced Miss King to join them in extorting the money. At first she protested that Mitchell was "too good to lose" for a sum that would have to be split four ways. They raised the amount to $100,000, promising her the big end of the loot. Then she began a campaign of winning his affections to the point that he would write love letters to her. She succeeded and he wrote fervent love letters from Palm Beach, it is said.

It was then planned that she should persuade him to spend the night in her apartment and while he was there a man would jump from her clothes closet and confront Mitchell with his presence in her room and the letters, demanding $100,000 hush money. Mitchell, however, did not remain all night, and the theory is that the girl paid with her life for failing to keep him there.

All the links of this theory were placed together after the authorities had quizzed Mitchell three hours Saturday night. It is understood that Mitchell, now that his name has been revealed in connection with the case, is ready to go before the grand jury and tell the full story of his relations with Miss King and give every aid possible toward convicting her slayer.

Mitchell's wife still believes that he has not been leading a double life. At most, she believes he has been guilty of nothing more than the indiscretion of allowing his name to be associated with that of Miss King.

Blackheaded Pimples Quit With S. S. S.

Why? Pimple-Poison Goes When Red Blood-Cells Increase! S. S. S. Builds These Red-Blood-Cells.

You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can't live in the red rivers of your blood as long as there are enough rich red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells!

That is what you need when you see pimples starting at you in the mirror. Black-headed pimples are worse! Eczema is worse yet! You can try everything under the sun—you'll find only one answer, more of medical science. Red-cells mean clear, pure rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexions. PLANS ARE LAID TO SELL VESSELS

Washington, March 26.—Comprehensive plans for getting the government out of the shipping business—based upon the immediate sale to private interests of the vessels now being operated at an annual loss of $50,000,000—were handed to the United States shipping board today by the American Steamship Owners Association.

Steamship owners and operators were asked to submit plans to the shipping board for the disposal of the American fleet following the failure of the ship subsidy bill in Congress.

COUNTY BOARDS OF EDUCATION WILL MEET ON FRIDAY

A general meeting of all the Boards of Education of Greene County has been called by County Superintendent of Schools, H. C. Aultman, to be held in the form of a luncheon at the Elks' Club, Friday March 30 at eleven o'clock.

Hon. Vernon M. Riegel, State Superintendent of Schools, will be present at the meeting for an address, and will answer the usual questions, legal and otherwise that vitally concern the members of the various Boards of Education at this season of the year.

The annual meeting, according to Superintendent of Schools Aultman, is held under the provision of law 4747-1, which requires County Superintendents to call all board members together for consultation at least once each year. The meeting last year was said by State Superintendent Riegel to be the best in point of attendance, of its kind ever held in the state.

It is expected that the tax question will be paramount in the general matters of discussion, although it has been suggested that questions relating to the general welfare and conduct of the schools should be given due consideration.

The following members of the County Boards of Education will attend the session: County Board officers, A. L. Fisher, W. B. Bryson, J. B. Rife, J. E. Hastings, and S. A. DICK TELLS ANN OF GRACE'S THREAT

Chapter XLII

Ann and Dick ate in utter silence. As he rose from the table she said: "Have you anything to say to me, Dick?" Her voice was steady, but she was very pale, and her eyes held a world of pain. She was in an agony of feelings that she had never had before—sick with shame—that the doctor, a stranger, that Bessie, should know, have heard Grace Edmund's pleading calls for Dick her husband. "It isn't as bad as you think, Ann," Dick spoke in a low voice not looking up.

"She telephoned you—she told—them—"

"Yes—She wanted me to take her to San Bernardo, or somewhere for a day—a sort of picnic. I told her I couldn't—and she said she'd take—poison—kill herself. I never thought she meant it—that she would do it. She said she was bored—wanted a day just with—me. I'm sorry, Ann, but it isn't quite as bad as it looks."

As he finished his halting explanation, the telephone jangled! Dick took the receiver in his hand, and called "Hello!" Ann was looking at him and saw an expression easy to read on his face. Grace was calling him! He put his hand over the mouthpiece and said huskily:

"You hear this?"

Quietly Ann took the receiver. She heard:

"Hello—glad you answered the call yourself, Dick! I told you I'd do things if you refused me. I gave them all a good scare! And I'd given them a worse one if Bess had had the old doctor, instead of that young know-it-all. Oh, it was great! Bess was scared almost to death! You were horrid, Dicky, not to come up when I called. Ann got the shock of her life I imagine. I'll do more next time. I'll really keep my threat, then how will you feel? Why don't you say something, Dicky? Are you terribly angry—or are you sorry you didn't do as I asked you? I'm really sick, that stuff that doctor gave me—why don't you say something? Are you still on the wire?"

"This is Ann. I have been on the wire, not Dick. Your motion picture training evidently helped you stage your comedy."

"Put Dick on the wire, Ann, like a good girl! I was only trying to scare him."

"Dick is standing right here and does not wish to speak to you." Ann hung up, turned to look at her husband.

"I didn't mean to hurt you so, Ann," Dick said with an effort. Although he had heard nothing of what Grace said, he had seen Ann's face register, horror, dislike then such disdain as proved how utterly despicable the whole affair was to her frank honest nature.

"Did you forget you were married, Dick?" Ann's clear but pain ridden eyes bored into his.

"No, Ann! On my honor that is true. I liked Grace. She's so jolly, so full of fun. I—oh, well, there's nothing more to say," he shrugged his shoulders, "she's always had her way and tried to get even with me for refusing her by playing a joke on me."

"The joke, on you as you term it, Dick came near being a tragedy for me. It was a cruel, heartless thing to do."

"Well, she'll soon be gone," Dick resumed his old careless tone. The explanation was over; He dismissed it easily.

"Gone? What do you mean?"

"Why that's the reason she wanted a long day doing as she pleased. They are going to start a new picture soon have sent for her."

Ann turned aside to hide the look of relief that swept her face. She believed Dick—that he had not broken his vows to her. But she also believed Grace Edmunds loved him, that she was unscrupulous, that she would hesitate at nothing.

Dick's surrender of the telephone, knowing nothing of what Grace might say, had helped her faith in him. He had sworn he had been faithful, yet had not asked her forgiveness for making her suffer, had really sworn very little contrition, in spite of his explanation, his embarrassment.

But that was like Dick. As soon as he succeeded in making her know he had done nothing wrong, the affair lost much of its importance in his eyes. Grace was Grace! She had been a "damned fool" he said to himself made him look one too, but she really hadn't meant anything, save to have her little joke. Now that Ann understood, why think of it any more.

Ann caught her lip between her teeth as Dick turned and left the room. Was he going to leave it like this? If only he had taken her in his arms and asked her for forgiveness for making her suffer, so for embarrassing her so frightfully.

Later she heard him on the porch whistling. She rose cleared away the dinner things, she commenced to undress. She was wearily tired, heart sick, satisfied Dick was true, yet terribly dissatisfied also. He came in, and taking her in his arms kissed her, and said: "All's well that ends well—so don't worry any more over Grace's joke."

WILL ASK PRESIDENT TO DECIDE QUESTION OF MODERNIZING NAVY

Hughes and Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt Agree to Leave Issue Proposed Changes in Fleet—See Violation of Treaty.

Washington, March 24.—Secretary of State Hughes and Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt agreed today to leave it up to President Harding to decide if the proposed modernization of the eighteen capital ships of the United States navy would constitute a violation of the Washington naval treaty.

There is growing resentment in congressional circles over the possibility of the state department ignoring the law providing funds for the modernization of American battle ships.

There is the probability, it was learned, that congress may take the position that neither the state nor the navy department have any right to do otherwise than to proceed at once to elevate the guns on American ships so that they will have a range equal with those of the British.

The British government already has intimated to the state department that no change has been made in range of the guns on their fighting craft and that any alteration on the American ships will be in violation of the treaties drawn up here. They admit, however, that prior to the negotiations for the limitation of armaments the gun turrets were so arranged that battleships which would otherwise be obsolete are now capable of bombarding American vessels before the latter were within range to return the fire.

Congress was fully aware of this situation before it authorized the appropriation to elevate the guns, it was stated. The view was taken that the treaty has not been ratified by the French government, one of the five signatories, and that until this is done the treaty is not binding. Congressmen also point out that the very purpose of the naval treaties was that Great Britain and the United States should have navies of identical strength. This intent is destroyed at the outset, it is claimed, if the British are to be permitted to retain a fleet of much greater offensive ability, due to longer range guns than those of the United States.

State department officials point out, however, that congress passed the bill and appropriation with the specific understanding that the change in the gun turrets would be made only under the provisions of the existing treaties. They contend that in doing this congress, in fact, referred the matter to the state department to decide what may be done. If Secretary of State Hughes should decide that the changes may be made he will so inform the navy department and their ordinance experts will begin the necessary work immediately.

"Old Posey" and his companions were forced to leave their horses and camp equipment, so close was the chase, the latest report stated.

A Navajo Indian brought the word that "Old Posey" had been badly wounded in the leg. The posse had previously picked up his blanket with two bullet holes through it.

With only the pitiful remnant of the band that took the warpath, still alive or unaptured, it was announced that the posse would remain on the trail until the last red man is rounded up or killed.

A general roundup of the Pluto tribe was in effect today. Reports from Bluff stated twenty squaws and papooses had been captured and sent in there. Forty members of the tribe are in the stockade at Blanding and the five captured in battle are en route there, strongly guarded to prevent another escape. They include Posey's little boy, two of Joe Bishop's boys, Old Poke's brother and Sanup's little boy. The latter is one of the two men convicted in court and whose escape was the start of the trouble.

The probability existed that the miniature uprising will result in the removal of the whole tribe from San Juan County. The federal government is investigating affairs through the U. S. Marshal from Salt Lake and the Indian agent from Ignacio.

ROAD CONTRACTS ARE NOT FAVORED

Columbus, O., March 24.—A warning that very few, if any of the projects embraced in the proposed road letting contracts of March 30 will be approved by Finance Director Baker, and a notice to road contractors that any bids submitted on any of the high priced roads advertised for that date by Highway Director Herrick will be at the bidders own risk, has been issued by Governor Donahay.

This is in line with the policy announced by the governor recently, when he said all road construction bids must include estimates for more than one type of material.

"SOLITARY" GIVEN LEADERS OF GANG

Cincinnati, O., March 24.—After ring leaders in the attempt of forty prisoners to escape from the Hamilton County Jail last Sunday night had filed complaints about having to sleep on concrete floors and subsist on bread and water, Judge Frederick L. Hoffman, of the criminal court last night decided that their solitary confinement was justified because of their desperate characters and by reason of their refusal to obey prison rules like other inmates.

BORAH IN DEMAND FOR ADDRESSES

Washington, March 24.—Senator Borah is back in the capital, sitting tight and watching to see the effect of his Akron speech. It is too early for him, however, to get a definite line on the effect of his appeal to the party to "quit gumshoeing" for votes and adopt a "fearless and clear-cut program" if a third party movement is to be headed off.

The senator said he has a number of other speaking engagements and a flock of invitations for still more addresses. The demand for his presence comes from all directions in the country. One of the latest invitations came from the bankers' association of the Democratic state of North Carolina. He has not decided how many of the invitations he will accept, nor whether he will fill all dates already made. He is expected to go into more detail as to his ideas of what the "clear-cut and fearless program" he demands embrace.

BONDED INDEBTEDNESS OF TAX DISTRICTS UP

Large Increase Since 1910 Shown in Report Issued by State Auditor Tracy, Who Sounds Word Of Warning

Columbus, O., March 24.—That the bonded indebtedness of Ohio's taxing districts has jumped to more than $679,087,137 today from $188,146,145 in 1910 is shown in a compilation made by State Auditor Tracy. This indebtedness represents bonds issued by the counties, cities, villages, townships and schools, but does not include state bond issues.

The great increase in the bonded indebtedness of the counties, it is claimed, is, in a large measure, responsible for the tremendous increase in the per capita taxes paid by Ohioans.

State Auditor Tracy has sounded the following warning, relative to the menace of the ever-increasing burden of public bonds and higher taxes:

"A most alarming situation is presented, in view of the decrease in the grand duplicate of the state for the tax year 1922, as indicated by authentic information received by this department from county auditors and state examiners in the bureau of accounting, estimated at $450,000,000

TO FACE BIGAMY CHARGE—MARRIED TO EIGHT WOMEN

Man Over 70 Years of Age Alleged to Have Never Gotten Divorce

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 24.—Charles W. Davis, 73, alias Taylor, is being held here on a technical charge of larceny.

According to police, Davis has been married eight times without any divorce proceedings intervening. He was arrested when he came to this city to marry Mrs. Emma Seeger, whom he is said to have deserted after marrying her. Later she advertised through a matrimonial agency, using her maiden name, with which he was not familiar, and Davis replied: "Your face looks familiar," said Davis as they met. "You've been entirely too much so," she replied as she notified the police.

Police received a letter from Mrs. Minnie Knowles of Williamsport, in which she states that Davis married and deserted her. She also named a Mrs. Finch of Thourmont, Md., and a Mrs. Rocky of York, Pa., as having been the victims of Davis' correspondence wooing. Other communications alleged he had married a woman in Elmira, N. Y., another in Jamestown, N. Y., and a third in Troy, N. Y. Still another letter from Mrs. Agnes Kelly of New York city bore the information that Davis had married her mother. Police of Pontiac, Mich., wired to the effect that a man of Davis' age and answering his description is wanted there on a charge of bigamy.

TOWN IN PANIC AS FIRE BREAKS OUT

Washogoul, Wastn. March 24.—The town of Washogoul, in southwestern Washington, was thrown into a panic early today when fire destroyed three buildings of the Washogoul Woolen Mills at a loss of about $10,000.

Frightened men and women, believing the town would be destroyed, helped fight the fire with buckets of water.

BYERS REPUDIATES PART OF STATEMENT BEFORE COMMITTEE

Hotel Man Takes Stand In Senate Probe of Alleged Bribery.

Columbus, March 24.—Testifying before the senatorial committee investigating scandal rumors connected with Senate Bill 162, W. W. Byers, manager of the Fern Hall Hotel company, Cleveland, repudiated a part of the statement he signed March 15 in which he had stated that he had said to Ben J. Sawyer, Cleveland lawyer, he "supposed it was all right for him to put in a bill for legal expenses sufficient to cover Senator Rowe's hotel expenses."

Byers told the committee that he had signed the statement at a 5 a. m. conference while under a nervous strain on condition that he could afterwards revise any part of it. He claims that he never saw the above paragraph in the statement he signed.

Senator L. L. Marshall of Cleveland, who sponsored Senate Bill 162, told the senate his version of the introduction of the bill and how he came to be connected with it. Marshall denied any knowledge of "any attempted bribery" by persons interested in the bill in order to expedite its passage by the senate. He was never offered or promised anything for introducing the bill, he said. He told the committee that Senator J. W. Rowe of Cleveland, whose name has been connected with the rumors concerning the bill, "never manifested any unusual interest in the bill," so far as he knew.

Omaha Industries and Residents Preparing to Evacuate—Damage In Iowa Five Million

Omaha, Neb., March 24.—With reports arriving that the Missouri river is rising as new ice gorges form in the Neb., Omaha industries and residents along the river are laying plans today for an immediate evacuation.

Lincoln, Neb., March 24.—A dispatch from Blair, Nebraska, today reported that the huge ice gorge which made many families homeless and flooded much valuable farming lands in Iowa and Nebraska, broke late last night with a loud detonation and swept down the Missouri River.

Sioux City, Iowa, March 24.—Hundreds of residents of the bottomlands of Sioux City and the farming country surrounding are homeless today, driven from their places of abode by Missouri River ice gorge floods. Three lives are reported lost.

Flood waters this morning were slowly rising in the residential section of the lowlands. Unless dynamiters succeed in jarring loose the great ice gorges below the city, the entire bottom land district soon will be under water.

More than 5,000 farmers on the Nebraska and Iowa shores of the Missouri have left their homes, driving their stock to the highlands where they are camping until the flood recedes.

One gorge below Blair, Neb., broke last night causing a drop of two feet in the river at that point. Waters are backing up on the town of Vermillion South Dakota, as the result of a gorge in the Missouri, a few miles below the city.

Sergeant Bluffs, Ia., March 24.—Although the ice gorge in the Missouri river above this point is still unbroken and ice in some places is piled up twenty feet, it is believed, with a gradual lowering of the water stage, that all danger of a disastrous flood had passed.

FASCISTI BACKERS IN U. S. REPUDIATE STAND

Influential Italian Newspapers Which Have Been Supporting Movement Recant Former Utterances It Is Learned.

New York, March 24.—Italian language newspapers, which have been advocating the formation of Fascisti organizations in the United States, today recanted their utterances and repudiated any effort to establish such organizations in the United States.

Simultaneously with the repudiation of the Fascisti movement here by its former backers, the Italian Chamber of Commerce took a flat stand in opposition to any effort to organize Fascisti organizations.

Three influential New York Italian dailies, who have strongly urged Fascism in the United States but who are now opposed to it are Il Pro-gresso, Il Popolo and Corriere D'America.

These papers, though ardent supporters of Mussolini's organization in Italy, have now published editorials opposing Fascisti groups in the United States.

In an editorial explaining its stand, "Il Popolo" today stated:

"Like every other revolutionary party, the mission of Fascism lies strictly within the borders of Italy. There is no room for Fascism in America."

The Corriere, in an editorial entitled "Citizens or Aliens," declared that Italians have no more business taking care of America's business than the French or other alien Fascisti would have in taking care of Italy's problems for her.

Swift upon the heels of the repudiation of Fascism in the United States by its former influential supporters, is the announcement that an anti-Fascisti meeting is to be held tomorrow night in Waterbury, Conn., under the auspices of the American Civil Liberties Union.

GIRL WIFE ORDERED DEPORTED FROM U. S.

Cincinnati, O., March 24.—Federal authorities last night received orders to send Marie Szebi, 19 years old, 1624 Race Street, to Ellis Island, to be deported, the government holding her marriage to Elias Belliac, 1718 Vine street, to be void. They eloped more than a year ago from New York, where Belliac is said to have been the common law husband of Marie's sister Helen.

Belliac is quoted as having said that if Marie were sent back to Europe he would follow, although he is an American citizen. They have a child five months old.

MRS. KRESGE SEEKS TO DIVORCE HUSBAND

Cadillac, Mich., March 24.—James Harvey of Cadillac, father of Mrs. S. S. Kresge of Detroit, confirmed today the report that Mrs. Kresge is seeking a divorce from her husband, millionaire five-and-ten-cent store king and ardent "dry" worker.

"You bet its true," said he. "And she must have some good reasons. She has the best disposition in the world and if there is trouble between her and her husband, I do not think it is her fault."

Harvey came here from Memphis, Tenn., some years ago, and has lived on the outskirts of Cadillac.

CONDITION UNCHANGED.

In order to accommodate motorists who desire to take advantage in the reduction of price of auto tags at the beginning of the second quarter, April 1, and to use their machines Easter Sunday and Miss Nellie Rinck and Miss Helen Dillingham, of the City Hall, have arranged to sell the license plates Saturday afternoon, March 31.

The tags have not been obtainable on Saturday afternoon because the city offices are closed at that time. Aunt Annie: "Here is my recipe for Cowboys' Sour Dough Bread: Fill a two-gallon jar half full of warm water and stir in flour to make a stiff batter. Let stand in a warm place till fermentation takes place and the batter rises to the top of the jar. This will take about 24 hours. It is then ready for use. Take one quart of flour, one tablespoon of salt, one teaspoon of baking soda and a small handful of sugar if liked; sift these dry ingredients together several times and then spread them in the bottom of a large mixing bowl. Pour over this one-quarter of the amount of sour dough in the jar, and knead in all of the flour in the bottom of the bowl. Then pinch off pieces the size of an egg, roll each piece in melted butter and place in a well-greased dripping pan—as if you were making biscuits. Let rise 15 minutes and bake brown in a quick oven. You will find these a delicious change from the ordinary light bread. Add more warm water and flour to the sour dough each time you bake. When it becomes very sour put it in a cool place. In warm weather use cold water for mixing. Let the biscuits rise before baking, each time."

Mrs. D.: "My Best Cake Recipe: It is called 'Never Fail Angel Food Cake.' Beat the whites of 11 eggs very stiff (of course all these eggs make it expensive, but it can be used on occasion, for a guest supper.) Sift one and one-half cups of sugar seven or eight times. Now sift together eight times one cup of flour, a pinch of salt and one-fourth teaspoon of cream of tartar. Add these dry ingredients, in very small quantities to the stiffly-whipped egg-whites, taking care not to beat them in. When all the dry ingredients have been mixed with the eggwhites, add one teaspoon of vanilla extract, then pour the batter gently into a well-floured angel food pan. Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

Rub on Good Old Musterole
That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once. Rub good old Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

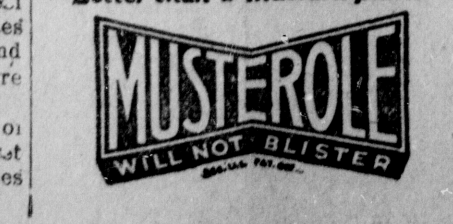

Colds are merely congestion. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, it does the work without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

GEDDES WILL NOT LOSE JOB IN U. S. SAY NEW METHOD GREAT STRIDE IN FIGHTING DISEASE

New York, March 24.—Physicians who have investigated the efficacy of the electrical treatment for pneumonia, developed by Dr. Harry A. Stewart of New Haven, Conn., coach and athletic leader, acclaim the method as a great stride in the history of medicine in fighting this disease.

"Heat," said Dr. B. Natrass of St. Mary's hospital at Hoboken, who has used the method and saved a number of lives, "is the basis of this cure. The use of heat in the treatment of pneumonia is very old. Mustard plasters and similar methods of producing heat have saved the lives of many pneumonia patients, but are inefficient in getting heat inside the lungs.

"The diathermic treatment used by Dr. Stewart introduces heat deep into the lungs without burning the surface. The current which flows through the entire body applies the heat where it is needed, but does not burn the skin or cause any intense fever throughout the body. It is not known just how high the temperature is raised inside the lungs, but Dr. Stewart told me that, in experiments on dogs, the temperature of the lungs was found to be increased to 115 degrees.

"There is no electric shock. The patient complains of the sensation of heat and it is necessary to regulate the amount of current according to the different types of patients. The effect is apparently a dilation of the blood vessels of the lungs, with a melting or relief of the congestion. So far no patient treated by this process ever has been lost."

Dr. Joseph Londrigan of Hoboken described the apparatus and method of treatment. "The electric plates are about 2 1/2 by 5 inches in area and one is placed on the back and another on the chest. They can be attached to the ordinary electric light socket. The chest is lathered with shaving soap to prevent direct contact and blistering. The patient lies on his side and the plates are usually held in place by Turkish towels. I have seen enough of the treatment to recommend it very highly."

Cincinnati, March 24.—"The engineering profession is older than the tomb of Tutankhamen," said Dr. Ira M. Hallis, retiring dean of the Worcester Mass. Technical Institute in an address before the executive board of the American Engineering Council of the Federated American Engineering Societies here last night.

"Records found in the tomb of Egyptian kings show that five thousand years ago the engineer was designated to be the sole companion of the king because of the vital importance of his profession. Even before that, in the time of Babylon there were men who followed a profession similar to that of the modern engineer."

After hearing an appeal sent by John Hays Hammond, head of the Federal Fuel Finding commission investigating the coal mining industry, the delegate voted to cooperate with the commission.

Return of seized patents of German companies by the alien property custodian was opposed by the engineers in a resolution adopted with little dissent.

London, March 24.—As a result of the French occupation of the Ruhr the port of Rotterdam is almost completely paralyzed. Seventy per cent of the business done through the port has been wiped out and 20,000 men are idle as a result. The merchants of Rotterdam are making the claim that the action of the French is an infringement on the treaty of 1863, guaranteeing free navigation on the Rhine.

ANOTHER WAR IS THE GRIM

Detroit, Mich., March 24.—"other war is coming—it is bound to come," was the grim prophecy by Henry Ford, manufacturer of America's best known pacifist, in interview with the writer.

"But after the next war," said, "America is going to be a healthy industry."

Ford declared "big business" must be careful in its public dealings the future. It must have the peace with it; not against it.

"I am a pacifist," said the manufacturer. "Everyone knows that, guess I am a pacifist, because I lo war and everything connected with it. But another war is coming is bound to come."

"It has to come—to get to be settled. It will be a world war."

"After that war we shall have peace. At least, peace with some understanding. The people—and the politicians—will rule. The war was not finished. The people were fighting each other; it is not something we make; judgment and destiny thrust up."

FIVE PASS CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS POLICE DEPARTMENT

All five applicants for the 1 of police patrolman who took civil service examination T night, passed the examination have been certified over to City Manager T. H. Zell by the Service Commission as eligible for appointment.

The successful applicants were Patrolman John L. Ste Desk Sergeant James Soward, Harris, Charles Thompson and 145 T. Boyles. There are two vacancies caused by the resignation. Patrolman Fred Jones and Patrolman Ancil Stephens and it is necessary that there be three eligibles each vacancy. The names of the applicants with that of William O. ear Ellison, who remained on the eligible list from the last examination complete the proper number of six names certified over to the acting manager.

Although appointment will be made before the term of Patrolman Ancil Stephens ends next Saturday it is thought that Acting Manager Zell will place the list before City Manager S. O. Hale for appointment.

CUR FRIENDS, THE CALORIES

Recently we have been neglecting an important part in any beauty discussion—that is, scientifically correct diet. Now if you are fat or thin or if you have a bad complexion or any other troubles which are due to improper feeding (an extraordinary number of our troubles are due to this there are two ways you can set about a cure. One is a hit-or-miss method of eating new things and watching the result; the other is learning how to diet scientifically.

The theory of calories had a great vogue; then, like all vogues, dropped out of favor and was replaced by a new enthusiasm. But the other day a well known scientist declared that the proof that "foods are oxidized in the body in accordance with well established laws of combustion" ranked only a little behind Newton's discovery of the law of gravitation. The proof of the heating values of food came from Lavoisier, the great scientist of France, who lost his life during the French Revolution.

A candle containing the elements of carbon and hydrogen is converted to carbon dioxide and water when it is burned, and it gives off heat. Foods containing carbon and hydrogen are burned in the body and turn into carbon dioxide and water and also produce heat. There is no use going too deeply into the technicalities of a highly technical subject. It has been proved that definite amounts of coal or any other heating substance, always produce definite quantities of heat.

The scientists had to have some unit to measure this heat, just as earlier discoverers had to have the foot and the inch to measure length and the pound to measure weight, so they called the unit of heat the calorie. They found that the average man gave out approximately 2,700 calories of heat in 24 hours. Therefore, they knew he would need to take in about 2,700 calories every day—
if he was an average man.

Memphis, Tenn.—"Two years ago I

Today's Talk

THESE TALKS
I have been writing these Talks for nearly ten years.
Originally I wrote them to encourage myself. I continued because other people said they encouraged them.
Then, after a few years, I stopped writing them because I thought they were not enough to continue. For a period of two years they were not written.

But for something like six or seven years now, these Talks have again appeared in newspapers all over America, and have been a source of pride to me because of the wonderful letters that they have brought to me from the readers.

I am a business man. These Talks are written at odd hours in my offices on trains, at home, on vacations, wherever I happen to be. My little typewriter and I are inseparable.

I make no pretence to literary excellence. I write to help.

And I write these Talks for a secondary purpose—to satisfy my lifelong love of art and beauty.

Every penny earned from the writing of these Talks that you read from day to day goes to pay for works of art, mostly etchings. For nearly ten years I have been collecting the prints of one of the greatest masters of modern times—Alphonse Legros. So serious and reserve was this artist that a noted writer once called

"the belated old master."

I love his etchings, drawings paintings. Legros was a great sculptor as well.

In fact, a friendly critic once told of him "he improved everything he touched—and he touched every result in art."

I have also broadened my love of art by collecting the works of many others, including Whistler, Lepore, McBay, Born and Forain.

So, you see you make me doubtless happy—you who read these Talks, as well as the editor who uses them.
I am inspired and uplifted by your letters, and all that I earn from the Talks goes to increase my love of beautiful things.

I wonder if there is anything in the world that brings more to one the love and appreciation of beauty

MARCH BEST MONTH IN YEARS FOR FRUIT DECLARE OHIO FARMERS

"This has been the best March in years for fruit."

Frank Beach, extension horticulturist at the Ohio State University, makes this observation upon return from a tour that took him into most of the southern and some of the northern fruit-growing counties. He exclaims: "When spring weather blows first warm and then cold, as it did last year, buds are forced to a point that throws them open to serious injury from a cold snap. This year, it seems, we are having our cold weather first. Apple trees appear to be at least two weeks behind what they were this time last year, as to bud development. This is very favorable condition for a fruit crop."

Last year the dormant spray had gone over a large part of Ohio by this time, but so far this year only a few orchards in the river counties have been sprayed. This first, or "dormant" spray with lime sulphur solution 1-7, should be completed regardless of the calendar by the time the buds grow green and before growth starts.

"Sometimes this spray is called the delayed dormant spray, which phrase misled a good many Ohio farmers last year. They 'delayed' too long, and the lime sulfur solution killed the opening blossoms. Thousands of dollars were lost by this mistake. It is dangerous to put on the dormant spray after the first blossom buds show."

"Judging by those ordering spray material and the calls made at the Greene County Farm Bureau, for orchard information, it seems that there will be an increased interest in increased production, in Greene County in 1923," said County Agent Prince, this week.

POTATO GROWERS WILL EXPERIMENT ON TYPE OF CERTIFIED VEGETABLE

Potatoes probably will be added to seeds inspected and certified by the Ohio Experiment Association, during the coming growing season. Directors of the association, meeting this week at Columbus, took favorable action on the petition of a group of potato growers that this be done.

Heretofore, the potato men have had their seed certified by the State Department of Agriculture, which provided an inspector free for this purpose. The plan was satisfactory, it was said, except that the state can probably not provide more than one inspector, and this does not allow for expansion. The character of the inspection work and the requirements for certified seed will be the same as heretofore.

While the growers in Greene County have never before attempted to grow certified seed potatoes, they are ordering a car load of 650 bushels of Michigan certified Rural Russet seed potatoes this year, for spring planting. It is possible, according to County Agent Prince, that some of the men, using the seed potatoes, will attempt the production of certified seed in 1923.

Since the State Association is a private body, with inspection fees going to pay special inspectors provided for this work, the new certification plan is capable of indefinite expansion. Data is meager as to the relative merits of Ohio and Michigan certified seed, but experiments at Wooster show that the Ohio seed can more than hold its

Sitting Hens Should Be Given Well Built Nests As First Step in Helping Them to Best Results

When a poultry raiser decides to employ natural incubation he must assist nature and the hen to a certain extent.

For example, the nest for setting hens must be large enough to prevent the eggs from being crowded or piled upon one another. It must be deep enough to protect the eggs from below and to help the hen by holding the warmth about the eggs.

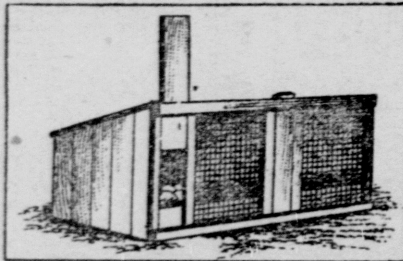

Comfort is a thing that must be carefully considered. The hen must be kept from other hens that might disturb her while setting. After the hens are disturbed they become nervous and are likely to break the eggs.

Nests for setting hens can be made in a variety of ways. They should be at least fourteen inches square. Soap boxes answer the purpose very well. A box nine inches to fifteen inches wide and eighteen inches long provides ample room. The entire box should be lined with hay, and there should be a cover over it.

Nests made of barrels (shown in the accompanying illustration) laid on the side against a post and sheltered from the weather make useful nests for setting hens and may be used as brooding coops for the hen and her chicks. When not needed for hatching they may be used as coops for the broody hens.

Sitting hens should be laid in the rear part of the barrel and the food and water placed on the outside at the front. When nests are prepared in this way the eggs are saved from danger and are confined to the nests.

A somewhat more elaborate nest called the combination nest is also shown. It is economical of space and is suitable both for the sitting hen and for her chicks after they are hatched. The boxes may be made singly or in pairs, as shown in the illustration. In the latter nest two hens can be set at the same time, one on each side. The whole front of this coop should be fastened with hinges at the top to serve as a door. The slats in the front are sliding doors that push up when the doors are closed, and through these doors the chicks can pass in and out of the coop.

Each single coop should be twenty four inches square and at least two feet high in front. The greater portion of the front is made of wire cloth. Such coops should be placed under shelter.

HERE IS LIST OF 20 MUSICAL COMPOSITIONS CHILDREN SHOULD KNOW

Here is the list of 20 musical compositions, which are supposed to be familiar to the children of the elementary schools, of the rural districts, and which will play a prominent part in the State Music Memory Contest in which Greene County Schools are taking part:

"America the Beautiful," "Old Folks At Home," "All Through the Night," "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Slumber Boat," "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water," "Hark! Hark! the Lark," "To a Wild Rose," "A Dagger Dance," "Natoma," "Stars and Stripes Forever," "Spring Song," "The Swan," "Humoresque," "Amaryllis," "Largo" from the "New World Symphony," "Minuted in G," "Salut d'Amour," "Blue Danube Waltz" and "William Tell Overture."

SALES OF FARM LAND AVERAGE AROUND $100 PER ACRE OVER STATE

Sales of farm land in Ohio during recent months average $105 per acre according to a compilation made by Statistician C. J. West of the State-Federal Crop of 360 sales of farms distributed over the state. When compared with the high prices of four and five years ago these figures show that much of the inflation in farm land values has been eliminated.

Almost 40 percent of the reported sales were foreclosures, settlement of estates or made under other forced conditions. For these forced sales the average price was $82 per acre as compared with $118 or the free and open sales.

Sales on improved lands averaged $117 as compared with $70 for unimproved farms.

The average number of acres in the forced sales averaged 118 and free sales 93 acres.

MORE THAN $20,000 VALUE OF LIVESTOCK

Livestock shipped through the Greene County Cooperative Livestock Company, during the month of February, amounted to $20,696, according to figures compiled by W. H. Smith, secretary of the Association.

Nineteen floors of livestock were shipped during the month, weighing 274,000 pounds. The cost was 62 cents per hundred, the shrinkage amounting to 1.09. Fourteen hundred hogs were included in the month's shipment.

BUTTER FAT COSTS OF PRODUCTION IN GREENE COUNTY ARE INDICATED

The cost of producing butter fat, in Greene County during the month of January, was 53.07 per pound, according to figures compiled at the Greene County Farm Bureau, from records taken from eleven farms in five townships in the county. The records show that the high price exhibited despite the fact that butter fat sold at 100 points at and over 50 pounds, the local farmers producing it at a loss for the month.

In compiling the data, a flat charge of 30 cents an hour for labor was included, and the feed figured at the actual cost the skim milk and manure produced by the animals credited to the herd.

The records were taken from the following farms: J. W. Barr, Bath township; Leroy Short, Ralph Spahr, and Elmer Hetzel, Xenia township; Russell Schultz, and I. M. Coy, Beavercreek township; Ewbank and Murray, Burton McElwain, Alexander McCampbell, E. E. Finney and Fred Dobbins, Cedarville township.

On six of the farms where milk records were kept, the cost was $2.30 a hundred to produce milk. The cost for February in producing butter fat was even higher than January according to County Agent Prince.

PROGRESS OF WORK IN FARM BUREAU SHOW IN RECENT STATEMENTS

Having added up the reports of county agricultural and home agents from 85 Ohio counties, leaders of the agricultural extension service at the Ohio State University summarize outstanding accomplishments of the year 1922, as follows:

Demonstrations conducted through these local committees, and through the county farm bureaus, led to the introduction of 134,374 bushels of seed wheat of the standard Ohio varieties. Reports from those who used such seed indicate that, without any extra expenditure of time and labor, it brought about 5 bushels more wheat to the acre. There is record of enough such wheat introduced to plant around 75,000 acres.

Similar demonstration methods further brought about introduction to Ohio farms of 2,679 head of registered livestock; and led to the planting of 11,124 new acres of alfalfa and 4,224 acres of soybeans. A total of 20,870 farm youngsters engaged in junior project clubs, and turned out products valued at $541,704.

Home demonstration specialists trained 8,357 farm women in 85 counties to pass on instruction in health, nutrition, clothing construction, and home labor saving devices to 37,284 other Ohio farming wives.

Outstanding projects of the Greene County Farm Bureau for 1923 include enlarging seed corn testing work, advancing the second year clothing construction work among farm women, advanced class in boys and girls clubs, urging the construction of home-made fireless cookers. The Bureau is working along the same lines adopted last year, Mr. Prince says, with several new projects added.

BIG TYPE POLAND CHINA HOGS WARMLY DEFENDED BY GREENE COUNTY MAN

Branding the opinion of farm journals and newspapers who deride the worth of the Big Type Poland China hogs, and their market value, as erroneous, C. W. Mott, of Jamestown, president of the Greene County Big Type Poland China Breeders' Association, has issued a statement, setting forth figures on the Big Type hogs.

"Some of our farm journals and newspapers carry numerous contributions and editorials regarding what is said to be an essential change which must be made in the type of hog which farmers must raise for markets. They say farmers must raise hogs that meet the packers demand, and that demand is for a 'bacon' or 'meat type' hog. They say the Big Type hog is no longer profitable, for the farmers, because it is not the kind of hog the packers demand."

"I believe this propaganda is misleading. The Chicago packers promote and support a swine carcass contest every year at the International Livestock Exposition. The barrow of the 1922 exposition, which dressed out the highest percentage of edible meat, with seven breeds, competing, with a Big Type Poland China, and all the barrows of the same breed made a higher average, dressing-out percentage than the barrows of any other breed, 'bacon' and 'meat types' included."

The following figures are tabulated from Swift's killing sheets, and were supplied by B. H. Heide, secretary of the International Exposition, and were released by him for the 1922 Carcass contest:

Number	Breed	Average Dressing-out Percentage
17	Big Type Poland China farrows	82.7
11	Hampshire	82.5
14	Berkshire	82.1
6	Tamworth	81.7
18	Chester White	81.3
5	Duroc Jersey	78.6
2	Spotted Poland China	78.2

TESTS OF SEED CORN ARE MADE IN COUNTY

County Agent Ford S. Prince has been busy during the past week, dividing his time between aiding in the work of testing seed corn daily, at the Xenia station, at the Farmers' Exchange, and visiting the boys and girls club leaders over the county.

Tuesday afternoon he went to Fairfield, where he aided in taking off the first seed corn test, at the 2200 ear germination box, recently installed there. The Fairfield seed corn tester is testing corn for the farmers of Bath township, the work being done by Mr. Luncy, principal of the Bath township High School and the school students.

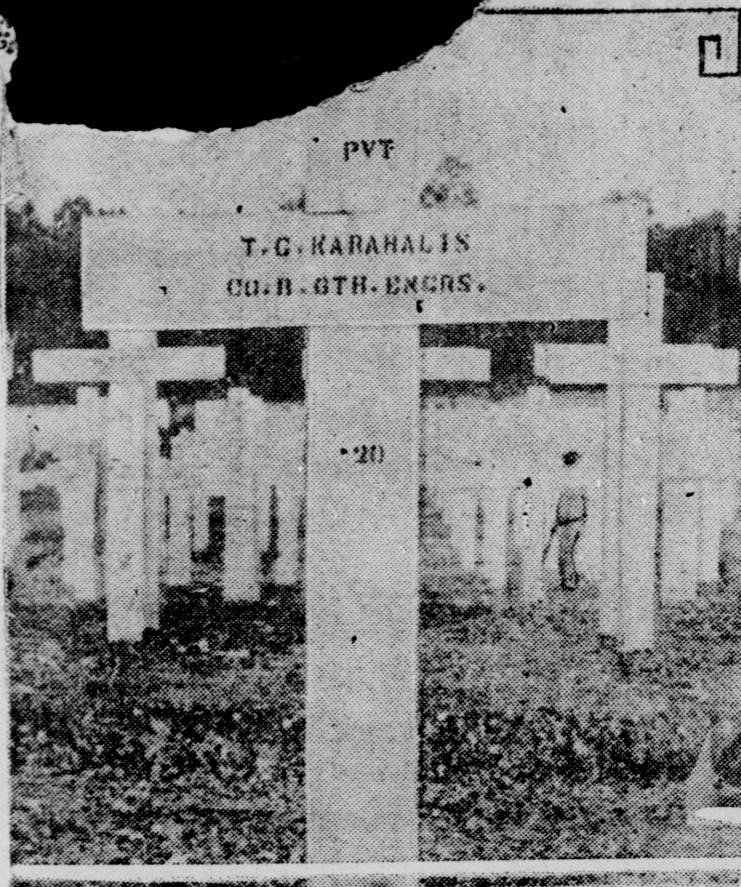

At Ross Township, a similar process took place, Friday afternoon. The work of testing the seed corn at that point is handled by C. W. Hamer, Smith-Hughes Agriculture teacher at Ross Township High School. The Farm Bureau in both townships had equipped the schools for testing purposes.

FARM RENTALS AVERAGE $6.00 PER ACRE

MR. H. H. Hamer, Smith-Hughes Agriculture teacher at Ross Township High School, is handling the seed corn testing work at Fairfield.

INVITATIONS SENT PUBLIC TO ATTEND PLAYGROUND MEET

Letters of invitation to the meeting of the Community Recreation Association which is furthering plans for supervised play here, to be held in the McKinley School auditorium, next Monday evening, are being sent out by John R. Beacham, chairman of the survey committee.

The meeting will be addressed by Ben Piers, former Xenian, now recreational director of Dayton, who will present moving pictures and slides showing the playground work in Dayton. The letters being sent out urging attendance at the free presentation of playground facts, follows:

"To the Citizens of Xenia:
"From Rome come reports that the Fascisti have voluntarily taken an oath to give up wearing gems, to renounce all worldly amusements, which are not an expression of civic joy for Italy's progress, to support philanthropic enterprises. Let us take a portion of a page from the Fascisti book for old Xenia.

"Are the boys and girls going to play in the street all this coming summer? You know the peril of the automobile and the penalty some child might pay. The Police Department of Xenia has but few officers, and they have their hands full with regular work and cannot overcome the traffic peril. Only last week two of our local boys broke in and robbed a store. This is child delinquency due to inadequate play opportunities.

"You, I know, are in favor of a playground—park—swimming pool movement, because you love the great outdoors, and because, from the health standpoint, you wish to encourage your children to spend the most of their summer time in the open air.

"Your influence is solicited. Your presence desired. You can spend a mighty profitable evening and inform yourself regarding such a movement, next Monday night, at 7:30 o'clock, at McKinley School auditorium, when Ben Piers, formerly of Xenia, will be here with films and slides showing what has been done in Dayton to take care of the play situation.

"The only cost to this program is your time. Remember your girl and boy will profit by this movement. May we expect you?
Signed,
"A COMMITTEE OF CITIZENS."

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

ZINNIA MAY BE MADE OFFICIAL FLOWER FOR XENIA

That the Zinnia will be adopted as the official flower for Xenia is indicated by the general favor with which its suggestion is meeting. It was learned Saturday.

Zinnias are bright hued, highly decorative flowers, that have a long blooming period and are very easily grown, blooming profusely through the most unfavorable weather conditions. They come in a variety of colors in both single and double varieties and are perfectly hardy. They will grow with little attention and are in every way adapted to general city beautifying purposes.

In a recent letter from The Slagle Poster Advertising Co., Mr. Slagle says: "If you will let me know what flower you adopt for Xenia I will be glad to get out some hand painted posters and post them gratis."

He also says he would like to suggest that the flower adopted for Xenia be put before the business men of the city that they may have them printed on their stationery.

The Current Events Club is sponsoring the idea of the city flower and finds the suggestion meeting with enthusiastic response. The club is anxious to hear from other clubs in the city interested in the project. Mrs. Charles Kelbie of West Church Street is chairman of the committee.

A PURITAN WIFE

By Jane Phelps

GRACE FRIGHTENS THEM ALL Chapter 41

The young doctor leaned over the bed, Bessie beside him, Ann watching through the open door. Grace kept up her moaning, her calls for Dick.

After a bit the doctor straightened up a peculiar look on his face. He asked Bessie a question in a low voice, she shook her head.

Then he took a small case from his pocket, asked for water, then adjusting his needle gave Grace a hypodermic injection in her arm, she struggling to resist him.

"You're hysterical," was all he said, "this will quiet you." The peculiar look still lingered on his face.

He motioned Bessie from the room. Paying no attention to Ann, he said sharply:

"That girl's faking. She hasn't taken poison."

"But the bottle—" Bessie had found a bottle on the floor beside Grace.

"She didn't take it—throw it out probably. Who is this Dick? A lover with whom she has quarreled?"

"No—he's—" she glanced at Ann and the doctor seemed for the first time to perceive her.

"You are ill—frightened," he said. His voice taking on another, a softer tone. "Go down stairs, you can do nothing."

"Then she didn't—" Ann's stiff lips refused to say more.

"No more than I did!" the doctor answered briskly. "Take care of your friend, Mrs. Prentice, she needs far more than the girl in there." He nodded toward the bedroom, then went in.

Ann shook her head at Bessie, she would stay where she was. And Bessie, raked with pity for her friend, not yet quite sure the doctor was right in his diagnosis followed him.

"Better now, aren't you?" he said to Grace, his voice hard and unsympathetic. "You are faking, and I know it, so you may as well stop that noise," he added as she again moaned and flung herself about on the bed.

"I hate you!" she snapped.

"Of course you do. I found you out. Now Mrs. Prentice, we'll leave her. There's nothing more necessary," he walked out of the room, and seeing Ann still waiting, he took her arm and gently helped her down stairs, and then insisted she lie down on the couch.

Hardly had she done so when the door opened and Dick came in.

"What is it Ann?" he hurried to her side.

She motioned him away.

As he stared at her, uncomprehending Grace called:

"Dick—oh—Dick—come up—quick! He looked from one to the other. Then:

"Will someone tell me what has happened?"

"Grace—" Bessie started, but he interrupted.

"She didn't do it! My God! She told me she would!"

He started for the stairs, but the doctor placed his hand upon his arm.

"The young woman tried to make Mrs. Prentice think she had taken poison."

Evidently, from what you say she informed you beforehand she intended to; but she didn't take it. She is faking." Disgust in his voice.

"Are you sure?" Dick asked, as again the voice reached them:

"Dick—I want you—"
"Of course I'm sure! She worked herself up into an hysteria, but that is all."

The doctor's voice in talking to Dick held the same hard quality as when speaking to Grace. It hadn't been hard to recognize that he must be the Dick she had referred to; that he was in some way a party to what had happened. But when he turned to either Bessie or Ann, he spoke gently, almost tenderly. He mixed a soothing draught for Ann, who was still ghastly white and who trembled uncontrollably, then left.

Dick sat with his head in his hands, miserably helpless, unable to do or say anything.

"Take me home," Ann looked not at Dick, but at Bessie.

Dick rose, and without a word helped Ann from the couch, and out to the car, Bessie bringing the baby. He let the Chink get in, then climbed into the flivver himself, and drove the way home.

Ann sat rigid, her boy on her lap, her eyes glued on the back of the flivver.

She wondered what she would do when she reached home. Grace Edmunds had pretended to commit suicide—to take poison because of Dick—her husband! She had told him she would—but why? Had Dick simply angered her, or was it something deeper?

Had she thought to take him from her, and had Dick refused to leave her and the baby? Would she ever know?

Habit is often a life-saver, and Ann found her nerves steadying. She attended to the baby, then went about the homely task of preparing dinner. Dick remained outside until she called, then he came heavily in, and without a word took his place at the table.

Tomorrow—Dick Tells Ann of Grace's Threat.

NEARLY 3 HUNDRED ATTEND BUSINESS MEETING AT CHURCH

Judge C. H. Kyle, was re-elected president of the congregation of the Second United Presbyterian Church at the annual congregational business meeting and dinner, held in church parlors Friday evening. Trustees of the church, re-elected during the session, were J. Kenneth Williams, and John Short. James Patterson, was re-elected Secretary of the church, R. R. Grieve, to fill the office of treasurer for another year.

Two hundred and eighty-five members of the congregation attended the meeting, and enjoyed a dinner served by the Executive Committee and the Fourth Division, of the Ladies' Aid Society, under Mrs. Maude Stewart, President.

The business session was presided over by President Kyle, and consisted of reports of the various church societies, which were encouraging to the congregation, and showed progress during the entire year. Several figures announced showed that the Sunday School has advanced in its average attendance of 33 over last year. The enrollment of the Sunday School has increased, 54 members during the year.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Church, is the third largest in America, in the United Presbyterian Church, with a membership of over one hundred. The two leading societies in the denomination, are the Sixth U. P. Church of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and the Mount Liberty Church, of Pittsburgh.

The percentage of the pledge paid in the New World Movement, in the local church, is the largest in the Presbytery, it was announced at the meeting. The church financial report for the year is not complete, there being about ten days more to complete the year, the report is given showing a successful year.

A short musical program was given during the evening, by the Quartette of Central High School, accompanied by Miss Helen Hurley. At the close of the business session, the congregation expressed appreciation to the Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Proffitt, in the presentation of a lamp. The attendance at the affair was the largest in the history of the church.

FOUR DIE IN FIRE IN NEW YORK

BERNHARDT'S DEATH EXPECTED MOMENTARILY

LAST SACRAMENT ADMINISTERED FAMOUS ACTRESS

Attending Physicians at 3:30 Monday Afternoon
Gave Up Hope

FAILS TO RALLY

Career of Brilliant Woman
Near End After Valiant
Struggle

Paris, March 26.—The last sacrament was administered to Mme. Sarah Bernhardt at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, after attending physicians had given up hope that she could live through the day. Her death was expected momentarily. She had another relapse during the early afternoon and failed to rally.

Dr. Marot told International News Service at 5 o'clock that two injections of morphine had been administered and that she was sleeping. He said there was a bare chance she might hold out until morning.

Her illness is now diagnosed as uraemic poisoning complicated by heart weakness. Physicians and nurses were constantly in attendance.

"Mme. Bernhardt's condition is very serious," said Dr. Labbe, one of the specialists in a statement to International News Service at noon. "There is very little hope at the present time. I cannot say anything more beyond that."

"Madame Bernhardt passed a restless night," her secretary told International News Service at nine o'clock. Her condition is about the same. Although it is not at all satisfactory, only the indomitable will of the famous actress has kept the slender thread of life from snapping. After a small cup of weak broth had been fed to her, she brightened and remarked:

"It was a warm spring day and bright sunshine came flooding through the windows."

"I shall continue my work," she continued, but in a voice so pitifully weak it could hardly be heard.

From five to seven specialists have been in attendance off and on, holding frequent consultations. They are amazed at the marvellous vitality of the patient who is 78 years old.

Dr. Prevost, chief of the specialists refused to hold out any hope that Madame Bernhardt could recover sufficiently to resume her work in the films although he said she might linger for a while.

PASTOR FALLS DEAD DURING SERVICES

Martins Ferry, O., March 26.—Apoplexy, resulting from overwork is the cause assigned for the death of Dr. Robert B. McDanel, 61, who fell dead in the First Baptist Church of which he was pastor just prior to the start of last evening's service. Mr. McDanel had just completed an evangelistic campaign in Dayton. His widow and five children, among them a daughter who is a student at Ohio University at Athens and a son at Denison University, Granville, survive.

WILL OPEN LAND TO WAR VETERANS

Washington, March 26.—Approximately 400,000 acres of land in Emery and Grand Counties in Utah, will be opened to world war veterans for homestead and desert land entry beginning April 20, Secretary of the Interior Work announced today.

Prespective settlers, however, must waive mineral rights, including petroleum and coal, in this section. Work said. They have been with drawn by a recent order.

HARDING TO DECIDE

Washington, March 26.—Official confirmation was given at the State Department today to an exclusive International News Service dispatch on March 21, announcing that President Harding would be the final arbiter in the controversy between Secretary of State Hughes and Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, over the donation of guns on American capital ships.

Until the president returns from Florida, officials said, the controversy aroused by the interpretation of the Washington naval treaty will remain "status quo."

MME. BERNHARDT AT DEATH'S DOOR

Mme. Bernhardt, famous French actress may not live throughout the day according to word this afternoon. All hope for her recovery has been abandoned. She is suffering with uraemic poisoning.

HARDING'S POLITICAL ADVISERS PLEASED OVER HIS CANDIDACY

Reaction to Announcement is Favorable, They Say—
Congratulatory Messages Are Received From
Party Leaders.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 26.—Political advisers of President Harding are greatly pleased by the reaction to the announcement of the Harding candidacy in 1924, it was learned here today.

Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, who made the historic announcement at Miami a week ago, has advised the president of the receipt of a "flood" of congratulatory messages from party leaders in all parts of the country. Some of the most prominent counselors in the party have wired that "the country was waiting for it," and that the announcement at this time would give a much needed clarification to the political atmosphere.

This view is also taken by members of the president's immediate party. Whatever else it has done, they said today, it has served to check if not to stop altogether much of the quiet "grooming" of various candidates that has been in progress ever since rumors became current that Mr. Harding would not be a candidate.

SHIPPING BOARD WILL NOT SELL VESSELS IS WORD

Fletcher Sees American
Owned Merchant
Marine

Washington, March 26.—No one should be deceived into believing that because the administration abandoned the shipping bill, there is not going to be an American owned and operated merchant marine.

Such is the declaration of Senator D. U. Fletcher of Florida, ranking Democratic member of the senate committee on commerce.

There are "some interests," Senator Fletcher said, determined that the ships shall be sold for a song. "They wanted the ships and the subsidy. Now they would be satisfied with the ships at a price," and await further developments." The senator continued:

"The principal contention of those who favor a ship subsidy is that American ships can not compete with foreign vessels because the latter can be operated at a lower cost. If foreigners can and do operate their ships at a lower cost, which is not admitted, then I suggest the following remedies, to become effective immediately:

"Abrogate the treaties, as provided by law, so that the United States may discriminate in the matter of customs duties on goods carried in American ships. Congress can do that, if the president will not. Bring about real co-operation between all governmental agencies at home and abroad and the operators and owners and patrons of our ships. Patronize and encourage others to patronize American freight and passenger ships. Develop and maintain adequate port facilities in the Atlantic, Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific.

"The insurance of American hulls and cargoes should be placed with American companies and associations. The cost of operating, maintaining and repairing our ships should be reduced to a minimum and not be exposed to graft or unnecessary expense and delay. Each and every American taxpayer is a stockholder in the American merchant marine, and it is his duty to patronize and assist in every possible way to make it a success.

"When economic conditions abroad again become normal there will be ample commerce to make certain the profitable employment of practically all of our ships, provided, of course, improved business and other methods are adopted, and there is co-operation all down the line from now on."

Commissioner Edward Plummer of the United States shipping board said: "The British dream that defeat of the shipping bill would mean that the United States would have to get off the seas and throw away its ships rapidly is turning into a nightmare. They now see that we are not going to do any such thing, but, on the contrary, our determination, in spite of all handicaps, to build up an adequate American merchant marine is greater than ever."

Mr. Plummer said the astute British shipping leaders, therefore, have been forced to the realization that the situation with regard to American competition has got to this point: "Either the treaties standing in the way must be amended or abrogated so that a system of discriminatory duties in favor of goods hauled in American bottoms may be put in force, or a policy of permanent government operation adopted, genuine, thorough-going government operation, sympathetically directed and designed to render the greatest possible service to the country in keeping open the channels of trade, heretofore closed to the United States when it had no ships of its own."

ANTI-KLAN BILL FACING DEFEAT

Charleston, W. Va., March 26.—Opposed by the committee and facing probable defeat in the House the Hatfield bill, aimed at the Ku Klux Klan, making illegal the wearing of hoods and masks in secret meetings within the state, was up for action when the West Virginia legislature reconvened this afternoon. The bill has the support of the Republican majority but will probably be almost unanimously opposed by the Democratic majority.

TO EXPLAIN TO WIFE.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 26.—J. Kearsley Mitchell, the "mysterious Mr. Marshall," of the Dorothy King model murder case in New York, is reported to have left this city early today for the south where he intends meeting the train upon which his wife is speeding northward from Palm Beach in order to give her a first hand account of the relations with the slain girl.

SEEK MAN IN DEATH OF GIRL

Here is the latest picture of Mrs. Frances Love Beckwith, daughter of a prominent Philadelphia family, a New York show girl, well known among Broadway's butterflies, who died of acute peritonitis, following a drinking party in which she is reported to have received injuries similar to those which caused the death of Virginia Rappe, for which "Fatty" Arbuckle was acquitted in San Francisco. A flashily attired man who had been seen in her apartment is sought by the police.

FASHIONABLE APARTMENT HOUSE ON 57TH STREET BURNS: ONE IS MISSING

Blaze Sweeps Two Upper Floors of Building Trapping
Occupants—100 Families Had Homes
There.

New York, March 26.—Four persons are known to be dead, two are dying and one other missing as the result of a fire which swept through the two upper floors of the fashionable apartment house on West Fifty-Seventh Street, early today.

This apartment house is close to that occupied by Miss Dorothy Keenan King, beautiful model, who was recently murdered and whose death has not yet been cleared up.

One of the dead was identified as Miss Bessie Fries, companion of the wife of Joseph M. Callahan, who owned the building. Another was Miss Margaret Lee, 65, and the third Mrs. Emily Lee.

Mrs. Bessie Callahan had a miraculous escape from an instant death. Trapped by smoke and flames on the sixth floor, she crawled through a window and clung to the sill until her strength gave way and she dropped to the street below.

It was at first reported that she had been killed but doctors found that she was still living. She was removed to a hospital, where it was said she would probably die.

There were 100 families living in the building.

When the blaze was discovered one of the upper floors it spread with great rapidity and soon clouds of black smoke were rolling through the hallways and billowing from windows.

Terrified tenants began rushing from the building while screams of fright filled the air.

Occupants of nearby apartment houses took alarm and fled into the street.

After the firemen had confined the blaze to the two upper floors, policemen began checking up the dead and missing.

They had little hope that any of the six missing persons were alive and that the death list probably would reach nine.

There was considerable delay in identifying the third victim, who was known to be dead.

The flames spread to an adjoining building. The structure on the opposite side contains a branch Y. M. C. A. For a time it was seriously menaced.

So rapid was the progress of the fire that three alarms were turned in in quick succession and all the police reserves from nearby stations were rushed to the scene. Spectacular rescues were made by firemen and policemen.

One woman, who had taken refuge on the roof, jumped into a life net.

Flames and smoke cut off stairways and soon the windows on the upper floors were filled with heads of white faced men and shrieking women. The firemen worked desperately getting up extension ladders and swinging life nets into position. At risk of their lives, firemen ran into the smoke filled halls and apartments, carrying out unconscious men and women.

Four ambulances were rushed to the scene and within a short time first aid had been given to more than a score of persons who suffered from inhalation of smoke or were hysterical from fright.

FIVE LIVES TAKEN BY TYPHOID SINCE FIRST OF THE YEAR

Cincinnati Suburb Worried
Over Health Condition—
Source Unknown

Cincinnati, March 26.—With the death of Mildred Louise Hemsath, 16, of Latonia, Ky., the fifth in Cincinnati's Kentucky suburbs, ascribed to typhoid fever since January 1, alarm in Covington, Newport, Latonia, Fort Thomas, Fort Mitchell, Ludlow and Dayton, Ky., increased yesterday and health officials of the cities have united in an effort to combat the epidemic generally credited to the water supply systems of the communities.

School authorities in Covington have ordered a survey to learn whether or not pupils of the schools of the city have been afflicted by typhoid. As from two to three weeks may be required for incubation of the fever germ, the tracing of the source of the contamination may be difficult.

Thirty-one cases of typhoid have been reported in the cities involved, all of which face Cincinnati, across the Ohio river, which is the source of the water supply of the communities. Analysis of the water has failed to reveal any bacteria, health authorities assert.

GOVERNMENT SPEEDS UP PROBE OF SUGAR

SEEKS EVIDENCE OF SPECULATION FOR GRAND JURY

N. YORK PHASE VITAL

Attempt to Show "Criminal Conspiracy" Responsible For Price

Washington, March 26.—The government's investigation of high sugar prices, ordered by President Harding, was speeded up today when the Department of Justice instructed U. S. District Attorney Hayward at New York, to gather evidence against alleged sugar speculators for presentation to the Federal Grand Jury.

The New York phase of the campaign is most vital part of the campaign of Acting Attorney General Seymour to determine if a "criminal conspiracy" is responsible for recent price increases.

Bringing their best legal talent into action, officials of the Department of Justice plan rapid accumulation of the evidence and speedy exposure of the alleged manipulators now blamed for "fictitious" prices.

The government's inquiry is to be made sweeping in character in view of reports which have reached officials of a plot to force sugar up to twenty cents, if possible before summer. If it should reach that figure the American people will suffer a loss of more than $1,000,000,000 by the extortion.

Searching inquiry into the books of some of the suspected brokerage firms is under way. Orders also have been issued to ascertain the alleged connection of certain of the sugar refiners, and sugar plantation owners in Cuba. Some of those who direct the affairs of large refineries are also listed as owners of Cuban cane plantations. These individuals lost heavily in the crash of sugar prices about two years ago. At the department today, officials were not prepared to divulge names of such persons who may now be under suspicion. To do this, it was said, would defeat the government in its present effort. They will be made known later however, when the government's case is complete.

Representatives of the beet sugar industry, also are to be questioned. Department officials withheld comment upon this and other phases of the inquiry, but it was evident that the government's legal branch has determined to go into every angle of complaints laid before it and establish responsibility for the present situation.

Showing a clear insight into the world conditions of today as an outgrowth of the World War, Dr. A. R. Fulkerson, ex-consul to Japan, addressed a large audience at the morning services of the First M. E. Church Sunday, on "The Present World Situation."

The reception which Dr. Fulkerson, has met in other Ohio cities, and over the country was repeated at the meeting, the large audience enthusiastically receiving his address. He displayed an almost inexhaustible fund of information, and gave first-hand knowledge of the vital facts about conditions over the world.

The remainder of the program of the morning service, was followed in commemoration of Palm Sunday, and included a solo by Miss Leona Keller a duet by Frank Keller and Miss Cora Williams, and an anthem by the choir, accompanied by Mrs. C. H. Denner organist.

THREE GAMES AT MCKINLEY TUESDAY NIGHT

COACH SHEETS POINTING HOME LADS FOR BASEBALL

ROBINHOODS LOSE TWO GAMES SAME DAY

Home Team Practicing

Weather permitting the O. S. and S. O. Home baseball squad will have its first practice of the season Monday.

Coach Sheets has been holding light workouts in the armory hall and by so doing the Home lads are getting limbered up and under the direction of the Coach have learned a few points of the national pastime.

Coach O. T. Sheets is from Columbus and is store keeper at the Home. He has coached the Home nine for the past three seasons and has had a successful team each year. Last year's team was a corker and Sheet's lads played 10 games winning nine and dropping one. The defeat was to the crack Springfield High team but the Clark County gang came loaded for the locals and did not have very many high school athletes on roster most of them being semi-pro players.

With eight of last year's regulars back on the job, and a promising bunch of rookies in the field, there will no doubt be keen competition for berths on the varsity nine.

The Home mentor has a nice string of pitchers lined up for the job. "Brownie" Torrence and Kauffman who did the twirling last year are back on the job and are going strong. Nolan and Woods have also appeared and are showing fine form. Much is expected of Torrence and Kauffman as both lads rung up splendid records last season. Both of these boys have all kinds of benders and plenty of stuff on them.

On the receiving end Brewster seems to be the best bet as he was the backstop on last year's nine. Waterman is out for first, while Sherman and Hemphill are other likely candidates for the initial sack. Turney and Lee have been having it out for the key position. H. Lutz and Kenner, recruits, are arguing for the short stop position, while there are three lads out for the hot corner. Schultz, Caldwell and McDonald fighting for the position. L. Nolan, who is out for the twirling job played the pick up position last year and may be shifted this season. Lewis and F. Lutz who played in the gardens last season are back once more for the outfield position. Both are good on nabbing flies. Aschcraft, Phillips and Gaines are also out for the field job.

Coach and Manager Sheets is booking a heavy schedule for the Home nine and there will no doubt be some interesting conflicts staged. There will probably be a few out of town games also on the schedule as there were last season. The Home will open its season on or about April 21 or 28. Any team averaging from 17 to 19 years in or around Xenia is requested to get in touch with Sheets. For games call Main 519. Jamestown High, Yellow Springs High, Bowersville and Wilmington High teams take notice.

ROBIN HOODS LOSE TWO GAMES

The central Robinhoods lost two games Saturday, losing to the Orient Hill Reds, 18 to 10 and to the Eagles, second team 30 to 5. The Robinhoods lined up in the first game as follows: Adair, c; Price, p; Ball, ss; Bankard, lb; Spahr, 2b and C. Adair, 3b while the Orient Hill team had a full team with Brown, c; Michael, p; Hurley, ss; LaMar, lb; Bennington, 2b; Bostwick, 3b; Hook, lf; Lighthiser, rf; R. Lighthiser, cf. In the second game the Robinhoods lined up as follows: Adair, c; Price, p; J. Hornick, ss; Ball, lb; C. Adair, 2b; L. Hornick, 3b; Eagles—McCallister, c; Zell, p; West, ss; Shaffer, lb; M. Davidson, 2b; Clinton Adair, 3b; and Crawford, lf.

GAMES ARE RE-SCHEDULED

Three basketball games to have been played at McKinley School last week and postponed, have been re-booked for Tuesday evening on McKinley floor according to Coach A. M. Black. The three game card will probably be one of the last court entertainments of the season at McKinley.

The main mill of the evening will see the first team of the eighth grade hooking up with the Boy Scout quintet. The semiprelim will be staged between the Herr Bros., five and the first team of the seventh grade while the second team of the seventh grade will play McKinley sixth grade in the eye-opener. The first contest will start at 6:30 o'clock.

HEIRESS A FACTORY WORKER.

Springfield, O., March 26.—Her daddy is a millionaire, but that makes no difference to Miss Elizabeth Dennison, daughter of Henry S. Dennison of Farmington, Mass. She is a co-operative student at Antioch college and spends every alternative five-week period in a Dayton factory as an armature winder. "It gives me a wonderful feeling of independence," she said, "because if I had to I could easily support myself."

HEAR REPORTS OF MILK STATIONS AT MEETING SATURDAY

Encouraging reports from four townships of the county, operating co-operative milk stations, under the auspices of the Greene County Farm Bureau, were heard at annual meetings of the members of the organizations, held Friday and Saturday.

The first meeting held was that of the Cedarville Township Dairy organization, held at Cedarville, Friday evening. The manager's report was given by N. P. Ewbank, who reported that the station started May 1, 1922, and during the ten months of operation ending March 1, has handled 28,423 pounds of butter fat, which sold for a total of $17,433.61, with a gross profit of $1,669.99. The expense for operating the station during the ten months was $1,499.61.

The station has grown rapidly, the membership increasing from 43 on May 1, 1922, to 78 on March 1, one of the best gross gains experienced by any of the county cream stations.

The annual election of officers of the dairy organization resulted in the appointment of J. E. Kyle, president; Burton McElwain, vice president; Fred Townsley, secretary; Cash Gordon, treasurer, and E. E. Finney and A. J. Pittstick, advisory councilmen.

The meeting of the members of the Xenia Township cream station was held, Saturday night, H. W. Eavey, treasurer, reporting that since June 1, when the station started operations, that 55,551 pounds of butter fat, had been handled by the station. The business, according to Mr. Eavey's report, has increased steadily, and the membership has grown from 73 on June 1, 1922 to 112, at present.

The officers of the organization, elected were, B. U. Bell, president; Walter Nash, vice president; Elmer Hetzel, secretary, and H. W. Eavey, treasurer, with Ralph Spahr and J. C. Short, advisory councilmen. Both the Cedarville and Xenia Township stations have paid a retail of not less than two cents per pound for butter fat delivered by the members, at the end of each month.

Waldo Elliot was elected president of the Sugarcreek Township dairy organization, at the meeting held Saturday afternoon. Other officers to serve during the coming year with Mr. Elliot, are Weller Haines, vice president; Henry B. Weller, secretary, Carl Peterson, treasurer, and K. J. Sunderland, advisory councilman.

The members of the Spring Valley Township organization, elected Joseph Smith, president; George Quayre, vice president, and Edward C. Hartsook, secretary and treasurer, and B. L. Adams, advisory councilman, at the meeting held Saturday night at Spring Valley. Sugarcreek and Spring Valley Townships, co-operate on the sale of cream at the Spring Valley Farmers Cream Station, and since June 7, 1922, when the station opened, have handled 23,089 pounds of butter fat, which sold for $11,048.15, at a gross profit of $1,302.17. The expenses of the station have been $17,078.17, with a net gain of $524 even.

Three members were elected on the Board of Directors of the Spring Valley Farmers Exchange to fill places of expiring officers, at the meeting held Saturday night at Spring Valley. C. H. McKay, A. E. Beam and Charles Oglesbee, the officers whose terms had expired, were re-elected to the offices.

FLORIDA TO FIGHT FREE STOCK RANGE

Tampa, Fla., March 26.—One of the biggest fights likely to come up at the next meeting of the State Legislature, in April, is one which citrus fruit growers, farmers and many others interested will make to have the free range abolished.

At present Florida cattle in most instances, are allowed to roam the woods, getting their sustenance wherever possible. Frequently they find their way into the yards and farms where valuable crops are grown and do a vast amount of damage.

Those opposed to the free range contend that its abolishment would not only help the entire state but that it would also help the cattle industry, inasmuch as it would tend to develop modern methods on the part of cattle men. The latter have always fought efforts to restrict the open range, and are prepared to fight any renewal of such efforts.

BIG GAIN IS MADE BY MRS. J. SALYER IN TAKING TANLAC

"Since taking the Tanlac treatment, my digestion is amazing, my appetite is the envy of the family, and I have actually gained forty six pounds," was the remarkable statement made the other day by Mrs. James Salyer, 3430 S. Third St., Ironton, Ohio.

"I was in wretched health for over three years. I had no appetite and even the little I did eat soured, gas bloated me terribly, and my heart fluttered and palpitated so that I was afraid I had heart trouble. I was weak and listless, felt unfit for any task, and could get no restful sleep."

"But now, thanks to Tanlac, I could not wish for better health. When I got rid of stomach trouble I also got rid of what I had thought was heart trouble, for since my indigestion stopped I have had no more of those dreadful spells of palpitation. My daughter and my brother also have been greatly benefited by Tanlac, and it has been the favorite medicine in our family for several years. I cannot praise it too highly."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold. adv

SOPHS WIN HARE AND HOUND CHASE AT ANTIOCH COLLEGE

Representatives of the sophomore class of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, were winners over the freshmen team in a hare and hound chase held in the vicinity of Yellow Springs Saturday afternoon.

After a run three miles and one-half long the four members of the sophomore team, under the direction of John Christy, returned to the campus and the 27 freshmen continued to struggle in for the next two hours. The yearlings claimed the high wind which blew the paper off the trail was responsible or the defeat of their runners.

Coach Earl E. Prugh has announced the college will purchase a plaque on which the name of the winning class will be engraved if the students signify their desire to make the affair a yearly event.

URGES CLEAN UP THIS SPRING FOR OHIO MUNICIPALITIES

A spring cleanup period for all municipalities in Ohio during the month of April as a means of fire prevention is being urged in a circular sent out by State Fire Marshal Louis F. Miller.

Waste paper, oil rags or rubbish in attics, closets, cellars or out of the way places is food on which fires feed, the circular declares and a thorough clean up of all such places would prevent the fires so caused.

The State Fire Marshal is urging a permanent Fire Prevention Organization, which would remove the element of uncertainty in these annual clean up affairs by directing the cleaning up of the community annually and seeing that it is kept clean, by presenting fire prevention publicity in every manner and at every opportunity, encourage the prosecution of arsonists, obtain regular inspections of property, aid to fire department to obtain necessary equipment and to carry the gospel of fire prevention to all classes of citizenship.

While organized clean-up campaigns have been held in Xenia in former years, no movement of that nature has been broached this year, in spite of the fact that there was no clean-up last year. Physicians here have always taken a lively interest in the clean-up campaign not because it eliminates fire hazards but because it also eradicates germ breeders and provides more sanitary living conditions and helps defeat the spread of disease. The question of sanitation was partially blamed for last summer's typhoid fever epidemic.

Whether a unified clean-up campaign here is attempted or not both fire and health officials are urging that private disposal of such conditions by citizens this spring.

SPORT SUITS ALWAYS GOOD FORM

Country club life has become an important part of the American social system. Universal use of the automobile makes it possible for almost every man to play golf, get out to his club frequently or at least take part in more democratic outings which are open to everyone.

All this has resulted in the development of appropriate clothes in America, just as in England where certain elements of the population have long enjoyed leisure to play.

The American man, however, has adapted the sport suit to business life, too. You see the sport suit in offices almost as frequently as at the country clubs.

Above, at the left, is shown a typical young man's sport suit for the spring and summer season. They make up particularly well in the lively light patterns in checks and plaids and all the shades of gray and brown.

At the right is shown a young man's 3-button sack suit, conservative in design. You'll note the wide straight trousers which exemplify the 1923 style tendency.

MORMON CHURCH OF UTAH SEEKS TO BUY BIG TRACT IN OHIO

Purchase of 4000 acres of land of the Houston Farms Company, seven miles north of London, is being contemplated by the Mormon Church of Utah, it is announced.

Although a meeting of high Mormon Church officials with Richard F. Woodrow, of Toledo, president of the farms company, which is now in the hands of a receiver, was held in Marion recently, nothing of what was accomplished has been disclosed.

Purchase of the land by the Mormons for the establishment of a large colony in Ohio was first planned about a year ago, it is said. The deal was never consummated. The Houston lands are known as among the best improved in the state. There are 20 farms, each of which is fenced and tiled and the buildings are good. They center about the mansion once occupied by Foster B. Houston, one-time owner, who is now dead.

The lands were valued at $1,000,000 some time ago, but their value is now believed to have decreased.

DAUGHTER OF PRESIDENT OF DENNISON FIRM WORKS IN FACTORY AS PART OF ANTIOCH SYSTEM

Caloused hands indicative of manual labor or even the roughness that might be attained from washing dishes, would be the means of a broken-heart for the average flapper.

But not so with Miss Elizabeth Dennison, daughter of Henry S. Dennison, president of the Dennison Manufacturing Company of Framingham, Mass., who is a student at Antioch College, Yellow Springs.

For Miss Dennison has thoroughly absorbed the spirit of the co-operative school of education offered at the school of which her father is a trustee, and putting the methods to practical pursuit is supplementing her education as a factory personnel expert, by actually working in a factory.

During the five-weeks' period in which Miss Dennison is supposed to put her theory into practice, she is winding armatures in a Dayton factory. And though her hands are caloused, she lets that worry her but slightly. "This is what the wire did," she says, holding up her hands. "They were pretty sore at first but they got hard after a week."

And Miss Dennison derives great pleasure from the novelty of making her own way. "It gives me a wonderful feeling of independence, because I know that if I had to I could easily support myself." She is on piece work and winds 11-stators a day.

And furthermore, Miss Dennison gets along fine with the other girl employees. "Oh! the girls!" she exclaims, "they're simply wonderful! I never knew girls before who acted so real. They just don't kid themselves into thinking they're something they aren't. They're themselves, and they don't care who knows it. We get along very well because I work hard, and I don't get peevish, and besides I slag for them and one day at noon I gave them a vaudeville show. Yes, I sang a few jingles and danced and we all seemed to have a fine time."

Miss Dennison plans to combine what she has learned with the Dennison plan of factory democracy for the mutual benefit of capital and labor.

TOBACCO SELLERS FINED.

Warren, O., March 26.—Ten merchants here were fined $10 and costs each on charges of selling tobacco to minors. At the request of the board of education police sent out a 16-year-old boy, who succeeded in buying tobacco at every store he visited.

HOW TO TELL WHETHER A WITNESS IS LYING.

To Ohio has come the honor of having the first woman to sit on a supreme court bench, Miss Florence E. Allen. Previously she had been Judge of the Court of Common Pleas at Cleveland, but in 1922 was elected to the Supreme Bench, as an independent candidate against men of the regular political parties. The sketch of her life shows heroism worthy of anybody in her determination to succeed, handicapped by the fact of being a woman. While on the Common Pleas bench she tried 600 cases and had only four of these reversed, which any ex-judge will say is a record worthy to be proud of.

We have been quite interested in her diagnosis of how to tell whether a witness is lying or not, as follows:

"Witnesses who know they are not telling the truth," says Judge Allen, "are inwardly uneasy, and there is always some outward sign of this. They shift their feet, their hands, their whole bodies."

"As a rule, they are much more eager to get through the ordeal than the honest witness is. You can sense their anxiety to get off the stand as quickly as possible. An honest witness often seems to enjoy the experience of testifying. He is rather sorry when it's over and he has to step out of the limelight. But the dishonest one is, as it were, poised for flight all the time."

"And the eyes are always telltale. I can't say, of course, whether a witness is wriggling his toes or not, but you can generally see in his eyes that his thoughts are wriggling—if they are. The man may have determined in advance that he will look his interlocutor straight in the eye, knowing that this is considered the sign of truth. But there is a sort of flicker within the eyes that betrays him."

"If he were allowed to tell only the story he has prepared in advance, he might get away with it. But under questioning by the opposing lawyer, he becomes confused. He is made to supply details which he hadn't thought of when he concocted his story. It is sometimes rather pitiful to watch him then. You can fairly see his brain working feverishly, calculating, trying to remember his story and to figure out just where an unexpected question will lead him."

But Judge Allen has unshaken faith in obedience to law. She says: "Do you realize that the courts mean more to your safety and happiness than anything else in our Government? You can pass a million laws. But what are they worth unless they are administered honestly and justly? If your courts are corrupt or careless, your laws are dead letters. Where will you go for justice, if you cannot get it in your courts? If crime is not punished by the courts, what becomes of your safety?"

"I tell you that the courts mean more to you—to your home, your business, your everyday life—than any other branch of the Government!"

THE RISE OF BRITISH LABOR.

A vote in the House of Commons, in which the British Government maintained its ascendancy by the narrow majority of forty-eight, following as it does swiftly upon the loss of three parliamentary seats by the party in power, arouses some expectation of the early fall of the Bonar Law Government. The vote technically involved support of the civil service during the coming year. Actually it hinged upon approval or disapproval of the Cabinet's attitude of benevolent neutrality in the continental situation. The same eccentricities of procedure, which enable a United States Senator to discuss the propriety of opening the tomb of a bygone Egyptian King while nominally speaking on a motion concerning the ship subsidy, seems to find place in the House of Commons. The question being the support of the civil service, the debate turned wholly on the question as to whether Great Britain should intervene in behalf of Germany, or leave France to do her will.

The Labor Party, now holding undisputed place as the Opposition, is naturally greatly encouraged by this and other recent political phenomena. In this vote it had the support of at least fifty Tory members dissatisfied with the foreign policy of the Government. As the Labor Party's policy is distinctly in favor of such intervention as will end the present situation in the Ruhr, with at least the hope of reviving the trade of Great Britain with Germany, the vote must be regarded as distinctly in approval of that policy. British opinion indeed, as reflected in the press and in politics, seems to be more strongly anti-French than that of the United States. To what extent this is due to economic pressure can only be roughly estimated. The unemployment question is all-important in Great Britain, and naturally the Labor Party holds itself responsible for legislation which may correct that situation. The lack of German trade is reflected in the closing of factories and the multiplication of the number of the unemployed. Hence the attitude of Labor in British politics.

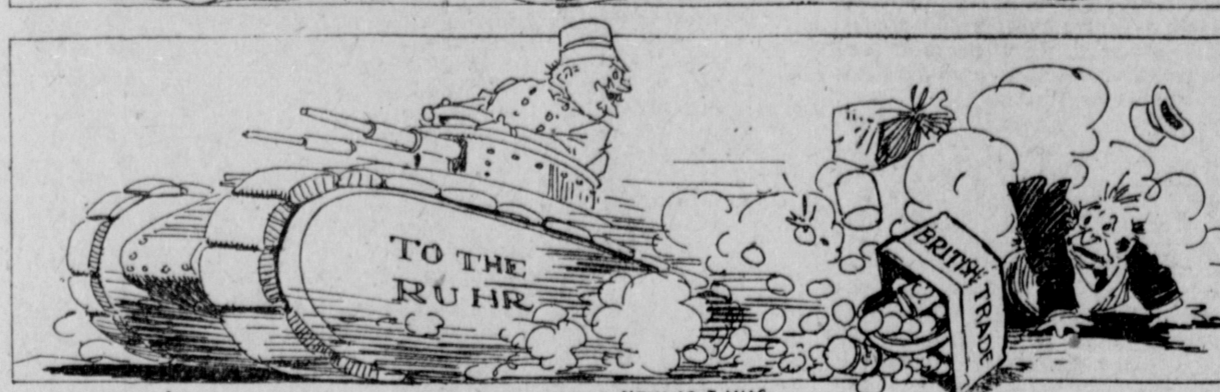

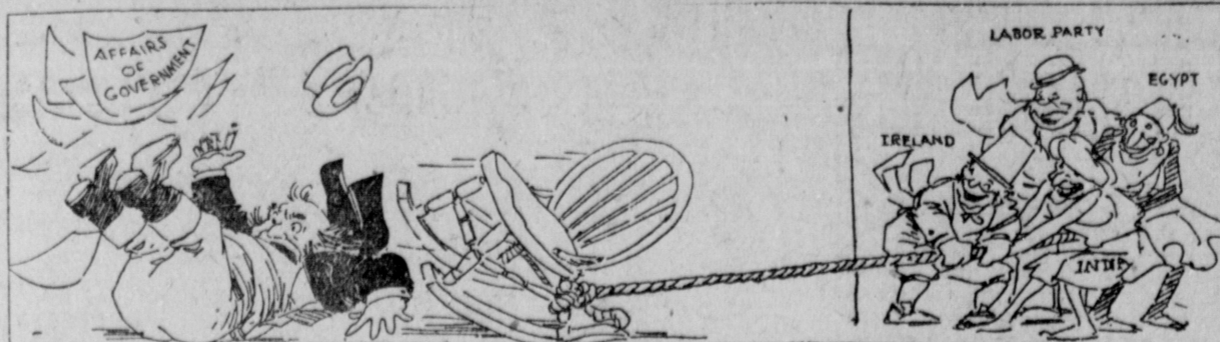

In the last general election 4,000,000 English voters voted the Labor ticket. That party now has about 150 members in the House of Commons. It is the second strongest party in Great Britain. One of these days Labor may govern England. Its leaders are ready, any time they may be called, to form a Government.

THE WORLD'S HOPE IN YOUTH.

Forty-one foreign nations—from Brazil to Siam—are represented in the student body of Harvard University. There are approximately 8000 foreign students from over 100 nationalities in the institutions of higher learning of the United States. In England's ten universities there are 3000 foreign students, and Oxford boasts a miniature League of Nations in which thirty-two nations are represented by student-citizens of those nations. In Prague—in heterogeneous mixture impossible to describe—are 30,000 students of twelve nationalities, including representatives of every political and racial problem of Central Europe.

The intellectual renaissance in China is a youth movement, and the chief opposition to China's bandit dictatorship is a youth opposition. Democracy is making headway in Japan largely through the ideals of Japan's university students. Latin-America abounds in student movements—many of them closely allied with Labor, and all of them working toward a new day of greater liberalism. It is in the Jugendbewegung (Youth Movement) of Germany that one finds hope for the development of a genuine belief in internationalism in Germany. And youth activity in these countries has gone far beyond the stage of agitation into that of definite achievement.

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

A cake walk attracted about 500 people to the rink last night many of them being from Springfield. There was some delay in getting entries, owing to the fact that cake is becoming so common that contestants for the "sweet bread" are becoming fewer and fewer as the years go by but the admirers of the "ole Virginny" dance seem to be on the increase.

The residents of Fairfield claim that thirteen is no longer an unlucky number in that their town went dry yesterday by just thirteen votes. The local option fight has been steadily waged in Greene County, Osborn and Yellow Springs being the only municipalities that as yet have not voted out the season.

The mayor, who is to be elected Monday week will come into a position much more grave, responsible and dignified than that position has ever been before.

HARMFUL DANDRUFF

Does your scalp show even a little dandruff? If so, you should begin to treat it instantly, for even a little dandruff is a menace to the health and beauty of the hair.

There are so many reasons for dandruff that it is almost impossible to discover the cause in any one particular case.

You may have been washing the too much, you may not have washed it enough, you may be eating too much starch, a common but little known cause of this trouble. You may have been using too strong a soap, or you may not rinse the soap sufficiently from the scalp. You may have used the hair brush or comb of somebody who has dandruff and so have caught the germ (men's barber shops are great distributing centers) or you may have been wearing heavy, heating hats too many hours a day. Here you have all the most ordinary causes. Now for the cure.

The best way to fight dandruff is to use oil in great quantities upon the scalp. If the trouble is in its early stages when it makes the hair greasy you may not like this advice. You will probably wash the scalp more frequently than the usual in a vain attempt to wash off this ever-increasing amount of oil, but as you cannot do this you had better resign yourself at once to the fact that you must go about for a while with an unusually oily head of hair in order to boast a soft and fluffy one in the future.

If you can buy crude oil, which is thick and dark and use this. If you can't, use olive oil. In any case heat the oil as hot as your scalp can take it, for its heat will open the pores so that more of it will be absorbed. Use the oil generously and rub it in with the greatest thoroughness, using an electric vibrator if you have one, and if you haven't using both hands vigorously. Do not wash out for 12 hours.

Distracted—I will be glad to mail you my formula for a blackhead powder upon the receipt of a stamped self addressed envelope.

Constant Reader—Directions for using the Pilocarpine Tonic are given along with the formula.

You use it as you would any other hair tonic. Shake it well and then moisten the tips of the fingers with the tonic and massage it into the scalp.

It will not take the curl out of your hair as it is not an oily mixture, but it is advisable not to waste the tonic by unnecessarily dampening the hair, as all tonics are meant for the scalp or the roots of the hair and not for the hair itself.

The easy way to accomplished this is to part the hair in many strands so as to get at the scalp without wasting the tonic.

If you are a constipation victim you need Bran that is ALL BRAN

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krum-bled, is so delicious and inviting that thousands of families use it constantly to make enticing bakery batches, such as bran muffins, pinches, raisin bread, etc.; they eat it as a cereal, and many sprinkle it on their favorite cereal, its nut-like flavor having a fine appeal.

Many more thousands of people eat Kellogg's Bran every day of their lives because it has permanently relieved them of constipation and the dangers of dreaded diseases that constipation leads to. If you are suffering with constipation you need ALL BRAN—Kellogg's Bran—with its permanent corrective qualities. Foods that are part bran can never give the desired relief because they do not contain sufficient of the elements that Kellogg's Bran naturally contains.

When you know that constipation heads directly to Bright's disease and other ailments, there is no time to be lost in experimenting. Kellogg's Bran, delicious in its patented cooked and krum-bled form, becomes an immediate necessity. If it is eaten regularly (two tablespoons daily; in chronic cases with each meal)—it will relieve constipation permanently! Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran. It will free you from proprietary pills and cathartics which are as system-racking and almost as dangerous to health as constipation itself!

Serve Kellogg's Bran regularly. Watch the health of your entire family improve. It is wonderful for children. Kellogg recipes are printed on each package. All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krum-bled.

All questions asked by our readers will be answered in this column Medical and legal subjects are barred. Address all queries to "Information," this paper.

Motorist—Yes, indeed, there is a trick to running an automobile about 100 miles on a gallon of gasoline. The test, or supposed test, is usually made on straight-away roads, and before a strong wind. The car is carefully driven at 20 or 25 miles an hour, then with gears in neutral and the engine stopped, it is permitted to coast until traveling at a slow rate of speed.

Housewife—The results of the experiment you ask about for determining what sort of glass is best for the preserving of fresh and healthful milk are these: Red glass bottles preserve milk best in hot weather. Plain glass turns milk sour, and brown or black bottles breed germs by keeping the milk at high temperature.

Wa-Wa—It is estimated that an adult inhales one pint of air with each respiration.

Fishman—Whoever your friend is, tell him that little thought would have kept him from making that bet with you. A whale's skin is of course much thicker than that of an elephant the latter rarely ever exceeding a few inches, while the former is often two feet in thickness.

Z. E. M.—The nutmeg, contrary to your guess, is the kernel of the fruit of a tropical tree.

Harold B. G.—The growth of the finger nails of an average human may be computed from the following: A man of seventy has renewed his finger nails 186 times and has grown 7 feet 9 inches of nail-of each finger.

Stan—Yes, Germany takes a census every five years, while Britain, like us, has one every ten years.

Columbus, O., March 26.—A plan of mutual insurance for Ohio furniture dealers will probably be adopted, it is said, at the annual convention of Ohio Retail Furniture Dealers association, which opens here tomorrow at the Hotel Southern. Approximately 500 out of town retailers are expected to attend.

DOUBT

John Kelman, in his wonderfully interesting book, "The Faith of Robert Louis Stevenson," commenting on Stevenson's essay "Lay Morals," says that "the deadliest doubt of all is the doubt of one's own value."

I believe there is nothing so destructive as doubt.

Whether in cynical thoughts and words as applied to religion or life.

EAST END NEWS

Friends of the family have received word here of the death of Mr. Charles Wade, better known as Dode Wade, of Chicago.

Mrs. Anna Patterson of East Church Street is among the sick. Mrs. William Tibbs of East Main street was the Sunday guest of friends in Dayton.

Rev. C. M. Smith preached Sunday afternoon at the Christian Church in Dayton.

Mr. Archie Williams of East Third Street, who has been in the Tuberculosis Hospital at Springfield for treatment returned home Saturday. He is not much improved.

Mrs. Mable Carter was the Sunday guest of friends in Dayton.

The musical program at Zion Baptist Church Sunday evening, under the management of Messrs. Williams and Terry, accompanied by Master George McClung of Dayton, was well rendered.

Eleven-year-old Master McClung, a violinist can now equal if not excel many artists of experience. Mr. Terry is well known in many parts of the county and especially in Dayton. Mr. Williams the soloist will have charge of the Easter morning service at Zion Baptist Church. Mrs. Lottie Lane performed at the piano.

The Edith Randolph Prayer Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Bell Tibbs, Tuesday afternoon from 2 until 3 p. m.

Mrs. Mary E. Moxley, wife of Moses A. Moxley, died Monday morning at about 1:45. She had been in failing health for the past six years. She was stricken three weeks ago with apoplexy. She was a member of Zion Baptist Church. She was united in marriage to Mr. Moxley 36 years ago. She had been a resident of this place for 28 years. The funeral will be from Zion Baptist Church, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends are asked to omit flowers.

Mrs. Amy Moxley of Middletown, who has been the guest of her uncle, Mr. Moses Moxley returned home Monday morning.

It is the same in its power to tear down.

If you cannot believe, you can at least think, you can give credit, you can be tolerant, in all your relations where others are concerned.

And when it comes to yourself, you can say: "No one knows my value better than I—no one is able to bring that value out as well as I—therefore so far as I am concerned, I shall not doubt. I shall believe!"

Doubt makes a man stand still—and hesitate.

Belief makes him attempt, makes him achieve, makes him successfully happy.

It is true that belief brings about a large number of mistakes. And many fail—temporarily, at least. But doubt keeps a man standing in his own path with no progress made.

They say that "nothing succeeds like success."

But that sounds too much like putting the cart before the horse. I like this better—nothing succeeds like believing that you are going to succeed, even before you have started!

Tell a man he hasn't got it in him to win and what reaction do you get? He throws doubt out of the window—while you are not looking—and starts right in defending the belief that he knows and feels is within him.

Build your way upward through beliefs.

Place each belief against the other, as a bricklayer would his bricks, mortaring each with constant effort, and before you are aware, you will have a completed structure, worthy of all that you have put into it.

No one ever built anything through doubt.

MACHINES COLLIDE ON PIKE SUNDAY— TWO ARE INJURED

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barker, of Dayton, R. R. 5, were injured and two machines were damaged when a Mitchell touring car driven by Henry Neller, 35 Hawthorne street, Dayton, crashed into the Ford coupe occupied by Barker and his wife on the Dayton and Xenia pike, between Zimmerman and Trebeins, about three o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Barker suffered a sprained leg and his wife was cut by flying glass. Neller was unhurt. Barker was driving toward Xenia and Neller was traveling in the opposite direction, when the big car is said to have sideswiped the coupe, knocking the smaller car down the road turning it around and causing it to turn turtle. The big car then ran across a ditch through a fence and into a woods.

Drivers of the two cars could give no explanation of the accident, but witnesses say the left front tire on the Mitchell machine blew out, throwing the big car in to the Ford when they attempted to pass. Both machines were badly damaged, the Ford being a new car.

Sheriff Morris Sharp investigated the accident.

Styles BY LENORE

It is something for which to be grateful that fashion has brought back the lingerie touches to dresses, especially to those of cloth.

Many women who have been wearing the severe line of the Jenny neck in black directly against their skin, thus bringing out any sallowness, should never have permitted themselves, fashion or no fashion, to dispense with the flattering aid of white or cream to soften the effect.

The model in the sketch—which with inch-wide folds of self-material, has an original way of breaking up its surfaces without destroying the slimness of the contour—shows one of the pleasing, youthful ways in which to use a bit of lingerie.

Cream embroidered batiste, or eyelet embroidery may be used. The edges are bound with cloth. This will be at its best in dark blue or tan rep.

Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs

By Mrs. George Elliott McCormick.

Already Ohio federated club women are beginning to plan their delegate representation at the biennial council meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at Atlanta, Ga., May 7 to 11 inclusive. Each club is entitled to one delegate for the first 100 members or less and one additional delegate for every additional 100 members. A club president is not a delegate unless elected to be by her club.

Visiting club women will be cordially welcomed at the biennial meeting, which is expected, will afford an opportunity for hearing the greatest women speakers in the world. Social features will be characteristic of southern hospitality. Hotel rates have not been raised, according to Mrs. Cornelius S. Selover, No. 1954 East 71st Street, Cleveland, who is Ohio director for the General Federation as well as the president of the state federation. These rates will range from $2.50 to $5 a day. The Ansley hotel is to be headquarters. Other hotels include the Piedmont, Wincoff, Cecil, Kimball, Georgian Terrace and Imperial. Reservations are to be made with the hotels direct. Railroad fares will be one and a half rates on the certificate plan, full fare given when a certificate must be secured and signed in Atlanta. Tickets are to be on sale May 3 and will be good until May 15. Mrs. A. F. Westgate, No. 1875 Belmont road, East Cleveland, is Ohio chairman of transportation, and more detailed information can be obtained from her.

Every club woman in the Central district will find some foreign born woman to befriend in some way, if the request of Miss Belle Larimore, of Outville, is heeded. She is a member of the state federation's committee on Americanization for the Central district.

"The children of the foreigners are learning our language and customs in our schools, the men, also, in their work, but the woman in the home is being left behind," Miss Larimore asserts. "There she is just as foreign as ever she was for in the home the native tongue is spoken."

Therefore, Miss Larimore would have every Central district club woman to become a sort of a "big sister" to her.

In the division of literature of the state federation, Mrs. Robert C. Morris, No. 2648 Kirkwood Lane, Toledo, offers a five year course for clubs. It follows: "Classic and Contemporary Short Story," "The Development of the Novel," "Modern Drama," "Contemporary Poetry and Biography and Essay." Leaflets will be supplied by Mrs. Morris upon request.

The chairman of the division of literature wants all clubs to observe the 350th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare, April 23. Programs for this occasion and an outline of a year's study of Shakespeare will be sent by Mrs. Morris to any one desirous of them.

A list of suggestions for summer reading will be ready for distribution at the state convention at Steubenville in May by the state division of literature, Mrs. Morris announces.

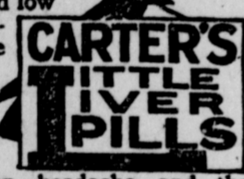

"Aunt Hannah's Quilting Party," a show presented by the Galion Federation recently, netted $363 for placing needed street signs in Galion. Club women took part in the play, which was pronounced a splendid success. Galion has 180 members in its six federated clubs. At the federation meeting this month, it was announced that $50 of the $224 cleared in its Christmas seal sale had been expended in supplying milk to undernourished children in the public schools.

ECONOMIC CRISIS AGGRAVATED.

BERLIN, March 26.—The past week saw an aggravation of the economic crisis. Industry has been forced, owing to the stringency of bank credit, to procure money by issuing new shares. In February 17 billion marks of new shares were issued as against 1½ billions in February, 1922. March will probably be double this amount. The demand for manufactured articles is dull. There was a sharp fall in prices for many raw materials. There was a further falling off of exports.

FORMER XENIAN IS AUTHOR OF MOVIE HERE SATURDAY

Unusual local interest was attached to the motion picture "The Man Unconquerable," which appeared at the Bijou Theater Saturday matinee and night due to the fact that the screen story was written by Hamilton Earl Smith, former Xenian.

Hamilton Earl Smith, known most generally as Earl Smith during his residence in Xenia, is head of the Syracuse Moving Picture Company of New York City, and author of the scenario screened with Jack Holt in the leading role.

Mr. Smith is a son of Mrs. Lorena Smith, sister of Miss Jean B. Elwell of this city, and for many years he made his home with his mother in the home of his grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Elwell of this city.

Mr. Smith obtained his early education in the Xenia schools leaving Xenia several years ago after completing his public school studies. He is remembered by many Xenians, who are interested in the film version of the scenario written by him.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

A Worth-while Reputation

THE head of one of this country's great manufacturing institutions says:

The man who builds and the man who buys are both beneficiaries of reputation. To the one it is a continuous spur and incentive—to the other, the strongest of all guarantees that what he buys is worthy."

Patronize the manufacturer or merchant who has a reputation for honesty and fair dealing. Such motives must actuate the consistent advertiser. The man who invests real money in building a reputation for himself and his merchandise cannot afford to risk any of it by taking unfair advantage of his customers. He must retain the good-will of the buying public. Without this, his business cannot succeed.

Every time he advertises he puts his reputation in your hands. His products or the wares he has for sale must make good. His service must be as advertised.

That is why it pays to read advertisements, to deal with advertisers and to buy advertised goods.

SLAYER KNOWN TO POLICE IN MODEL MURDER

Arrest Near in Dorothy King Case It Is Believed.

New York, March 26.—The man who murdered Dorothy King, the Broadway butterfly, more than a week ago, is known to the New York police. He is said to be in a New York town up the Hudson river and detectives have been sent to get him. Assistant District Attorney Pecora said that an arrest is near.

The arrest will be made, it is said, on substantiation of a plot to blackmail John K. Mitchell, a Philadelphia millionaire, who lavished the girl with jewels and paid her $1,000 a visit.

Mitchell, who was known until Saturday as the mysterious "John Marshall," has gone to Philadelphia to await the ordeal of facing his wife and father-in-law, E. T. Stotesbury, a partner of J. Pierpont Morgan. Mrs. Mitchell and her father are hurrying north from Palm Beach and will reach home Wednesday. As Mitchell left New York he looked as though he had aged 10 years in the last two days.

Authorities said they are convinced that Mitchell was marked for blackmail. A hundred thousand dollars was to have been demanded of him. They say the plot had its beginning when Miss King confided to a man that she had learned Mitchell's identity. Three men, one of them an attorney, were involved in the plot and they induced Miss King to join them in extorting the money. At first she protested that Mitchell was "too good to lose" for a sum that would have to be split four ways. They raised the amount to $100,000, promising her the big end of the loot. Then she began a campaign of winning his affections to the point that he would write love letters to her. She succeeded and he wrote fervent love letters from Palm Beach, it is said.

It was then planned that she should persuade him to spend the night in her apartment and while he was there a man would jump from her clothes closet and confront Mitchell with his presence in her room and the letters, demanding $100,000 hush money. Mitchell, however, did not remain all night, and the theory is that the girl paid with her life for failing to keep him there.

All the links of this theory were placed together after the authorities had quizzed Mitchell three hours Saturday night. It is understood that Mitchell, now that his name has been revealed in connection with the case, is ready to go before the grand jury and tell the full story of his relations with Miss King and give every aid possible toward convicting her slayer.

Mitchell's wife still believes that he has not been leading a double life. At most, she believes he has been guilty of nothing more than the indiscretion of allowing his name to be associated with that of Miss King.

COUNTY BOARDS OF EDUCATION WILL MEET ON FRIDAY

A general meeting of all the Boards of Education of Greene County has been called by County Superintendent of Schools, H. C. Aultman, to be held in the form of a luncheon at the Elks' Club, Friday March 30 at eleven o'clock.

Hon. Vernon M. Riegel, State Superintendent of Schools, will be present at the meeting for an address, and will answer the usual questions, legal and otherwise that vitally concern the members of the various Boards of Education at this season of the year.

The annual meeting, according to Superintendent of Schools Aultman, is held under the provision of law 4747-1, which requires County Superintendents to call all board members together for consultation at least once each year. The meeting last year was said by State Superintendent Riegel to be the best in point of attendance, of its kind ever held in the state.

It is expected that the tax question will be paramount in the general matters of discussion, although it has been suggested that questions relating to the general welfare and conduct of the schools should be given due consideration.

The following members of the County Boards of Education will attend the session: County Board officers, A. L. Fisher, W. B. Bryson, J. B. Rife, J. E. Hastings, and S. A. Shawhan; Bath Township, Consolida, F. M. Copenhaver, R. O. Rountzong, Dr. C. L. Logsdon, L. B. Harner, L. H. Hartley and C. F. Snediker; Beaver Creek Township, H. E. Ferguson, Dan Overholster, S. H. DICK TELLS ANN OF GRACE'S THREAT

Ann and Dick ate in utter silence. As he rose from the table she said: "Have you anything to say to me, Dick?" Her voice was steady, but she was very pale, and her eyes held a world of pain. She was in an agony of feelings that she had never had before—sick with shame—that the doctor, a stranger, that Bessie, should know, have heard Grace Edmund's pleading calls for Dick her husband. "It isn't as bad as you think, Ann," Dick spoke in a low voice not looking up.

"She telephoned you—she told them—"

"Yes—She wanted me to take her to San Bernardo, or somewhere for a day—a sort of picnic. I told her I couldn't—and she said she'd take poison—kill herself. I never thought she meant it—that she would do it. She said she was bored—wanted a day just with—me. I'm sorry, Ann, but it isn't quite as bad as it looks."

As he finished his halting explanation, the telephone jangled! Dick took the receiver in his hand, and called "Hello!" Ann was looking at him and saw an expression easy to read on his face. Grace was calling him! He put his hand over the mouthpiece and said huskily:

"You hear this?"

"Quietly Ann took the receiver. She heard."

"Hello—glad you answered the call yourself, Dick! I told you I'd do things if you refused me. I gave them all a good scare! And I'd given them a worse one if Bess had had the old doctor, instead of that young know-it-all. Oh, it was great! Bess was scared almost to death! You were horrid, Dicky, not to come up when I called. Ann got the shock of her life I imagine. I'll do more next time. I'll really keep my threat, then how will you feel? Why don't you say something, Dicky? Are you terribly angry—or are you sorry you didn't do as I asked you? I'm really sick, that stuff that doctor gave me—why don't you say something? Are you still on the wire?"

"This is Ann. I have been on the wire, not Dick. Your motion picture training evidently helped you stage your comedy."

"Put Dick on the wire, Ann, like a good girl! I was only trying to scare him."

"Dick is standing right here and does not wish to speak to you," Ann hung up, turned to look at her husband.

"I didn't mean to hurt you so, Ann," Dick said with an effort. Although he had heard nothing of what Grace said, he had seen Ann's face register, horror, dislike then such disdain as proved how utterly despicable the whole affair was to her frank honest nature.

"Did you forget we were married, Dicky?" Ann's clear but pain ridden eyes bored into his.

"No, Ann! On my honor that is true. I liked Grace. She's so jolly, so full of fun. I—oh, well there's nothing more to say," he shrugged his shoulders, "she's always had her way and tried to get even with me for refusing her by playing a joke on me."

"The joke, 'on you' as you term it, Dicky, came near being a tragedy for me. It was a cruel, heartless thing to do."

"Well, she'll soon be gone," Dick resumed his old careless tone. The explanation was over. He dismissed it easily.

"Gene? What do you mean?" "Why that's the reason she wanted a long day doing as she pleased. They are going to start a new picture soon have sent for her."

Ann turned aside to hide the look of relief that swept her face. She believed Dick—that he had not broken his vows to her. But she also believed Grace Edmunds loved him, that she was unscrupulous, that she would hesitate at nothing.

Dick's surrender of the telephone, knowing nothing of what Grace might say, had helped her faith in him. He had sworn he had been faithful, yet had not asked her forgiveness for making her suffer, had really sworn very little contrition, in spite of his explanation, his embarrassment.

But that was like Dick. As soon as he succeeded in making her know he had done nothing wrong, the affair lost much of its importance in his eyes. Grace was Grace! She had been a "damn fool" he said to himself made him look one too, but she really hadn't meant anything, save to have her little joke. Now that Ann understood, why think of it any more.

Ann caught her lip between her teeth as Dick turned and left the room. Was he going to leave it like this? If only he had taken her in his arms and asked her for forgiveness for making her suffer, so for embarrassing her so frightfully.

Later she heard him on the porch whistling. She rose cleared away the dinner things, the commenced to undress. She was wearily tired, heart sick; satisfied Dick was true, yet terribly dissatisfied also. He came in, and taking her in his arms kissed her, and said: "All's well that ends well—so don't worry any more over Grace's joke."
